Plans Considered For World Economic Conference

ROOSEVELT IS SILENT

Understood That President
Elect Has Not Endorsed
Hoover's Debt Ideas

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—(UP)—A conference of government experts to consider plans for the world economic conference along the lines suggested by President Hoover in his special debt message to congress yesterday, was called by Secretary of State Stimson today.

The proposal of the president for trading war debt revision for economic advantages, was among the subjects discussed at the meeting in Stimson's office.

Attending the conference were Secretary of Treasury Mills, Secretary of Commerce Chapin, Dr. Herbert Feis, economic advisor of the state department and John H. Williams and Edmund Day. The last two are the American technical experts for the coming international conference.

Stimson's action in calling the experts together followed a cabinet meeting at which President Hoover over the debt situation. His message to congress was discussed at length.

Roosevelt Broached

From an authoritative source the United Press learned that Mr. Hoover's proposal that President-elect Roosevelt join with him in selection of a debt commission, was broached to the New York governor before the president submitted it to congress.

The matter was reportedly discussed through an exchange of telegrams.

The success of President Hoover's plan for a commission to consider revising Europe's war debts in return for favors to American trade appeared to depend today on the cooperation of President-elect Roosevelt.

Reports from Albany indicated the president-elect did not endorse Mr. Hoover's ideas. Yet officials here felt hopeful that he would cooperate in making appointments to the commission.

In authoritative quarters it was broadly hinted that the president and his successor had discussed the plan before it was proposed to congress yesterday.

While Mr. Hoover, in theory, might create the commission with out Mr. Roosevelt's cooperation, such action would appear to be futile. The essence of the president's desire is a bi-partisan commission to bridge the gap between the outgoing and incoming administrations. There is little chance that the work of the commission, approved in advance by Mr. Roosevelt, could lay the basis for his action on debts after he becomes president.

Creation by congress of a debt reviewing commission—which Mr. Hoover suggested as an alternative to appointing one himself—appears says:

BEVERLY HILLS, Dec. 20. (To the Editor of The Register.) See where France has Paul Boncour to form a new cabinet. Six years ago in Geneva at a disarmament conference he was head of France's delegation and I saw quite a lot of him. He is very able. I have always wondered since then why they never used him more. France will pay it and it can't possibly hurt them as bad as it will some of our writers, and American financiers. I never saw people so broken hearted over our country receiving a little dab of money.

Congress voting on beer again today. It passed the people. But they can't get it through Congress.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

PAUL BONCOUR PREPARES HIS POLICY SPEECH

New Premier of France to Suggest Re-opening of Debt Negotiations

PARIS, Dec. 20.—(UP)—Premier Joseph Paul-Boncour worked today on his government's declaration of policy, in which he will cautiously suggest debt payment by France.

The declaration will be presented to the Chamber of Deputies on Thursday. Paul-Boncour is expected to respect the chamber's debt decision but to indicate that the government will seek to open debt revision negotiations preliminary to paying the lapsed December 1 installment to Washington.

Meanwhile, Henri Cheron, minister of finance, began budget discussions with experts of the ministry. As the entire 1933 budget cannot be passed before the end of the year, because of the lack of time, Cheron first will draft an emergency budget covering January, after which a budget will be framed for the remainder of the year, based on the strictest economies.

Cheron took over the ministry at noon and found the actual cash in the government's vaults to be 605,000,000 francs, ($23,595,000) contrasted with 19,000,000,000 ($741,000,000) which had been accumulated when he quit the treasury in February, 1930.

A severe income tax retroactive for three years, reaching as high as 12 per cent, was reported to be planned.

FINANCIERS TO BE ARRAIGNED MONDAY

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 20.—(UP)—Douglas H. Riker, former president of the Runnymede Finance Company, and William T. Wallace, who was vice president and sales manager of the concern, will be arraigned in federal court next Monday on charges of mail fraud. They gained their liberty under $5000 bond each late yesterday.

The men were indicted secretly last week on charges arising from alleged misuse of the mails in connection with the promotion of the Runnymede poultry project, said to be the world's largest.

CHIEF RESIGNS AS FINES ON DECLINE

SELMMA, Cal., Dec. 20.—(UP)—The resignation of Police Judge L. W. Everson of Selma, requested by the city council reportedly because court fines fell off, was in the hands of the council today.

The resignation was to be effective Dec. 31, when E. C. Laughlin, former police judge, will assume office.

Neither Everson nor members of the council would discuss the request for Everson's resignation. It was understood, however, that falling revenues from police court was responsible for the council's action.

NEW MATSON LINER STARTS ON TRIALS

ROCKLAND, Me., Dec. 20.—(UP)—The recently completed $3,000,000 Matson liner Lurline, built by the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation, Ltd., at Quincy, Mass., began her speed and fuel economy trials off here today.

The speed run was over the usual measured mile course. The fuel economy trial was to last 12 hours.

Eventually the Lurline, a 622 foot vessel accommodating 750 passengers, will be put in service in the Pacific.

SEEKS NEW PLACE TO "DIE IN PEACE"

NEW YORK, Dec. 20.—(UP)—The Jewish students of Poland were temporarily without a hunger striker today while Dr. Arthur Kraus, philosopher and crusader, looked about for a good place to starve himself to death.

Dr. Kraus abandoned his "fast unto death" after eight days because he would not let him die in peace, because the surroundings were all wrong, and because there was no sympathetic nurse to help him prolong the agony "and thus further the cause."

Dr. Kraus announced his defeat in Beth Israel hospital where doctors and nurses had held out numerous blandishments to induce him to eat. While he announced a nurse arrived with a plate of toast and a cup of chocolate, Dr. Kraus consumed them with enjoyment.

LUXURY BUYING HELD DOWN BY XMAS SHOPPERS

Practical Gifts Predominate on Shopping Lists Over United States

(Copyright, 1932, by United Press)
NEW YORK, Dec. 20.—(UP)—America has turned largely from luxuries to practical gifts for this year's Christmas shopping list, and while volume of sales is holding fairly well as compared with a year ago, the dollar total is down sharply.

A United Press survey today of Christmas shopping trends throughout the United States can be summed up briefly as follows:

Dollar sales are down from 10 to 40 per cent from Christmas, 1931.

The trend is toward necessities in all purchases.

Demand was over-estimated by many stores which will unload inventories in January sales.

Cold weather has tended to retard rather than increase Christmas purchases.

Clothing holds first place in the list of necessities being purchased. Toys meet fair demand. Although statistics of volume indicate little Johnny will find many of his last year's gadgets rebuilt for this year.

Wage cuts, past or impending, are credited in some quarters with giving a cautious trend to Xmas buying though the survey showed "Xmas spirit" is still very high.

A Lincoln, Neb., merchant told the United Press: "There is just as much of the Christmas spirit as ever."

Clothing takes a big place in the purchases. Jewelry and diamonds are at the bottom of the list. Toys of the cheaper variety are being bought; others are not as popular as in recent years.

61 MILLIONS TO BE SPENT ON HIGHWAYS

SACRAMENTO, Calif., Dec. 20.—(UP)—California will spend approximately $61,700,000 for highways during the next two years if the budget tentatively adopted by the state highway commission is approved by the legislature and Governor Rolph, it was indicated today.

While itemized projects included in the construction program will not be announced for several days, the general program has been worked out, it was announced. Harry Hopkins, Taft, chairman of the highway commission, said that the commission "had done its best to satisfy every section of the state."

Reduced revenues and the fact that the only $6,000,000 instead of $18,000,000 of federal aid money is included in the new budget made it necessary to slash the program approximately $19,000,000 as compared to the 1931-32 budget of $80,239,029.

RAILWAY UNION LEADERS ISSUE WARNING TODAY

Railroads Accused of Unfair Tactics at Meeting in Chicago

CHICAGO, Dec. 20.—(UP)—Railway labor accused the railroads of unfair tactics in a statement read at their joint wage conference today and blamed the delay in reaching an agreement upon those tactics.

The unions issued a two page statement, citing six specific instances of what labor claimed were attempts by the carriers to maneuver around the spirit of the conference.

The statement ended with the warning that if the railroads persist in their present attitude, the conference is doomed to fail.

Alexander F. Whitney, head of the union negotiators who have been meeting with the rail managers for more than a week to consider extension of the 10 per cent wage reduction agreed on last January, threw down the following challenge:

"If you do not wish to negotiate to a conclusion the proposal which you invited us here to consider, we think you should say so frankly and accept the responsibility for making impossible a further negotiation of the proposal you have made."

Whitney said that on last October 14, the railroads proposed negotiating at this conference their suggestion to extend the Willard (10 per cent wage deduction) agreement, "for such a period and in such manner as may be agreed upon in the negotiations."

"You have brought into this conference," said Whitney, "called to consider extending the Willard agreement, your claim of a right to violate that agreement and to destroy the major benefits which the employees expected to receive under it before they could have an opportunity to resolve them."

"Then," he suggested that we postpone this controversy in the hope that it might disappear and proceed with an agreement to extend the Willard agreement.

"Thereupon you take the extraordinary position that you are unwilling to carry out your proposal to extend the agreement unless we concede the full validity of your new claim that you have a right to destroy the agreement."

"If you persist in this position, let it be clearly understood that we have been unable to reach a settlement because after we had obtained authority to negotiate upon your proposal of October 14, and then shown complete willingness to agree to the substance of that proposal, you then extend the proposal to a new claim not to extend, but to cancel the Willard agreement, and broke off negotiations when we declined such an unfair, unwarranted proposal."

In the six points in Whitney's statement today, he denied the railroads had basis for their objections that the unions' proposal tied their hands, criticized the railroads for refusal to extend the agreement of one year, and criticized their stand on the basic wage question.

FAVORABLE TRADE BALANCE REPORTED

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—(UP)—The United States had a favorable trade balance of $35,000,000 during November, the commerce department announced today. This balance compares with a favorable balance of $44,000,000 during November, 1931.

Exports during November totaled $139,000,000 and imports $104,000,000.

At the close of November the United States had a favorable trade balance of $258,180,000 as compared with $303,355,000 for the corresponding 11 months of 1931.

Imports of gold during November totaled $21,758,000, while exports amounted only to $12,000,000.

Exports during November decreased $14,470,000 as compared with October.

Committee To Furnish Needy List

Baskets Valued at One to Three Dollars Will Be Given to Poor

RESIDENTS of Santa Ana who want to play "big brother" to some unemployed and needy family in the city by giving Christmas food boxes, may do so directly through a list which will be furnished by the Citizens' Unemployment emergency committee, it was announced today by Chairman J. S. Smart.

Previously announced plans called for the donations to be made through the committee or through the Salvation Army officials.

In order that persons wishing to fill the needs of families who might be without sufficient food during the holidays might know what is recommended for groceries, the following lists have been made public, the second of which was formulated last year by the county health department, physicians and dietitians.

The first box, which may be filled at a cost of but one dollar, included the following articles: one loaf bread, two pounds lima beans, one pound margarine, two pounds oatmeal, three cans milk, two pounds rice, one pound coffee, two pounds sugar, two pounds compound, six pounds potatoes and 10 cents worth of mixed candy.

The second box, which costs two dollars, contains half pound cheese, three cans milk, three pounds sugar, two pounds compound, three pounds oatmeal, three pounds prunes, two pounds margarine, three pounds cornmeal, one can corned beef, one pound coffee, half pound cocoa, five pounds lima beans, one pound mixed candy and 10 pounds potatoes.

The third list, which costs three dollars, includes three pounds sugar, three pounds compound, four pounds prunes, four pounds oatmeal, one pound coffee, two pounds oleo, three pounds cornmeal, one can corned beef, one pound cocoa, three pounds lima beans, one pound mixed candy, three loaves bread, 15 pounds potatoes, four cans milk, 10 cents worth green vegetables, 10 cents worth of onions, pound of bacon and two pounds cheese. Fruit, canned 25c.

Both the first and third lists are derived from the second, either by additions or subtractions.

FULLERTON BANKER STARTS PROBATION

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 20.—(UP)—Olin Lewis, confessed embezzler of $10,800 from the First National Trust and Savings Bank of Fullerton, prepared to start life anew today as a ward of federal probation officers.

After he was sentenced to serve 10 years at McNeil Island penitentiary for embezzlement, the sentence was suspended and he was placed on probation.

Lewis had made complete restitution of the embezzled funds, it was announced. He already has served a year and a day in Leavenworth prison for posing as a federal agent after the trust violation. He formerly was trust officer of the Fullerton bank.

PERMANENT BOARD OF PLANNING URGED

SACRAMENTO, Calif., Dec. 20.—(UP)—Creation of a permanent planning board that would have a 10-year public construction program always ahead, would materially alleviate unemployment in the opinion of the California unemployment commission.

In a report on file with Governor Rolph today, members of the commission pointed out that the proposed board could restrain construction during good years and speed it up during depressed times to provide steady employment.

These detailed statistics will be followed by formal applications for R. F. C. funds to supplement private and state contributions to alleviate distress. The first loan made from the $300,000,000 relief fund provided by congress, was to Illinois last July 27. To date Illinois has received loans totaling $25,238,228. Twelve states have found it unnecessary so far to request federal aid in caring for their unemployed and destitute. These are California, Delaware, Connecticut, Maine, Massachusetts, Maryland, Nebraska, New Jersey, New York, Rhode Island, Vermont and Wyoming.

Should these states need federal aid during the coming months, every possible assistance would be quickly extended by the corporation, it was said.

Louisiana is the only state to have received a loan for use during January and February.

DEBATE OVER BILL OPENED THIS NOON

Majority Leader Rainey is First Speaker; Defends Measure for Revenue

HOUSE IS JAMMED

Anti-Prohibitionists Admit There is Doubt Over Passage of Bill

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—(UP)—The most determined assault on the Volstead act since it became law, began in the house today, with consideration of the Collier "beer for revenue" bill.

Majority Leader Rainey, pictured Illinois congressman, opened the drive of anti-prohibitionists for house approval of beer before Christmas.

Rainey brought up the measure to legalize 3.2 per cent beer and tax it at $5 a barrel, as the house convened.

After a 10 minute wrangle over limitation of debate it was finally agreed that general discussion on the measure be limited to six hours, making virtually certain a final vote tomorrow.

As the bill was turned over to the membership for action, modificationists admitted that there was some doubt over passage. One check by the majority leadership was said to have indicated passage by only four votes.

Speaker Garner however, predicted passage of "some kind of a beer bill."

Rainey Speaks
Rainey, his long white hair, rumpled by the vigor of his oratory, defended the bill as likely to lead to increased tax income without violation of the terms of the 18th amendment.

He flatly declared that 3.2 per cent beer by weight is "not intoxicating."

"A glass of 3.2 beer is no more intoxicating," Rainey, one time ardent prohibitionist declared, "than would be a cigar or a cup of coffee."

He then turned to the vital revenue section and defended the comparatively low tax of $5 per barrel as the "most likely to yield the most revenue."

DAIRYMEN TO ASK BOUNTY ON PRODUCT

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—(UP)—Organized dairymen made a last minute effort today to write into the domestic allotment farm relief plan a bounty for their own products, as the house agriculture committee decided to end its hearings on farm organization proposals, and speed framing of a bill.

The dairymen were allotted time before the committee tonight to demand a tax on the processing of dairy products which would be returned to them as a "bounty." Their contention was that if the similar proposed taxes on wheat, cotton, hogs and tobacco processing are retained in the bill, put before the committee by organized agriculture, they would have to pay higher prices for their feed.

HOOVER'S DEBT PLAN IS UP TO GOV. ROOSEVELT

ed doomed. Many legislative leaders denounced the Hoover plan. Only a few endorsed it. However many congressmen, including prominent Democrats, praised the President's discussion of world economies and the necessity for concerted action to raise commodity prices.

The "Hoover plan" to revise debts was advanced in a special message to congress yesterday. The President suggested appointment of a delegation to the world economic conference which also would be empowered to negotiate debt agreements, although this would not be done within the conference. He said it would be well if some members of the delegation also were in the disarmament conference.

Throughout his message, Mr. Hoover linked war debts, economic problems and disarmament. He advanced the thesis—as he has often done before—that the United States might trade war debts for advantages to American commerce and for European disarmament. He opposed debt cancellation.

Work immediately. As explained authoritatively, the proposed commission would begin work immediately after its appointment by examining claims for debt reduction advanced by nations which paid their December installments. Defaulting countries could not present their cases until after they had paid.

After having acquired an understanding of the debt problem, they will discuss methods of trading debt payments for other compensations. Actual agreement on debt reduction would follow later. The advantage that the Hoover administration sees in the plan—as was pointed out in an exclusive United Press forecast last Saturday—is that the commission could begin work without delay. Yet no actual decisions on debt reductions need be made until after the new administration is in power.

Mr. Hoover is convinced that delay would be costly. He and his advisers believe that each month of waiting would hamper world economic recovery and further depress American business. "Discussions in respect to both debt questions and the world economic conference," Mr. Hoover said in his message, "cannot be concluded during my administration. Yet the economic situation in the world necessitates the preliminary work essential to its success. The undertaking of these preliminary questions should not be delayed until after March 4."

Chairman Borah of the senate foreign relations committee would link debts, disarmament and trade problems even more closely than Mr. Hoover. He said the debts should be discussed jointly with these other questions, or not at all. Senate Democratic Leader Robinson said he concurred in the president's opinion "that the restoration of price levels and stability of exchange are the key to recovery."

Veteran Official Says Street Sales Not Authorized

World war veterans, said to be on the streets of Santa Ana, are not doing so under the sponsorship of the Santa Ana or Los Angeles veteran organizations, it was stated today in a warning issued by Harry Edwards, who is in charge of the Orange County Veterans' Welfare Bureau.

Persons who are selling in the name of the Disabled Veterans or the American Legion are doing so with no local authority, he pointed out. No licenses for such sales have been issued.

"We want the public to know we are not sponsoring that sort of stuff," Edwards declared.

LUXURY BUYING HELD DOWN BY XMAS SHOPPERS

From the Atlantic to the Pacific coast the general trend is away from luxuries such as furs and diamonds are "crying their eyes out," according to the message from that region.

Jack Luhn, chairman of the Retail Merchants' association of Portland, Ore., said Christmas trade was 10 days behind former years with the trend toward necessities.

Lincoln, Neb., reported dollar volume off heavily, but merchandise volume only slightly under 1931. Denver finds business "picking up but volume of last year substantially off." Cold weather kept shoppers from the Denver stores.

Butte, Mont., department stores estimated sales fell 10 to 16 per cent under 1931 with luxuries making the widest decline. Salt Lake City trade was adversely affected by the coldest weather in 30 years. Retail volume fell 25 to 30 per cent there and a decline of 25 to 35 per cent was anticipated for January.

Zero weather halted buying in Kansas City last week, but a pickup is looked for this week. Trade is generally off 20 to 30 per cent from a year ago. St. Louis reported a drop of 20 per cent but looked for better business just before Christmas.

Sales in the Chicago district were reported fairly good. Des Moines reported a 20 per cent drop as compared with 1931. Dealers were disappointed with volume and have too much stock.

Ohio stores report similarly to those of the far west—fair merchandise sales, low dollar volume. Cleveland's dollar volume is off 10 to 40 per cent and buying of necessities amounts to 80 per cent of total business.

The south finds Christmas business of nearly 30 per cent with merchants overstocked since they had anticipated a decline of 25 per cent. Price declines in the southern states range upward to 72 per cent. Price declines in the southern states range upward to 72 per cent from a year ago.

The east follows the trend of other sections of the country. Contrary to expectations New York City department store sales are reported down 20 per cent from a year ago, and the remainder of the state is about the same or slightly worse.

PICKPOCKET TRIO SOUGHT BY POLICE

Santa Ana police were today seeking a man and two women who yesterday afternoon are alleged to have robbed E. M. Salter, of 1231 Fairview avenue, stealing his pocketbook from his coat pocket.

According to the story Salter told police today, the trio drove to his house and talked with him regarding the purchase of a number of chickens. They remained in the car and he was standing beside the running board.

When the car started off, a young woman, in the front seat, hurriedly reached in his pocket and took out his wallet. They were gone before he could stop them. Police were given a description.

Legion Band To Give Concert Here On Christmas Day

The Santa Ana American Legion band of 50 pieces will give a Christmas morning concert in Birch park, it was announced last night, with the granting of the use of the park by the city council to the Legion for the occasion.

Ted Collins, head of the band, made application for the use of the park, which was granted unanimously by the board. There is to be no expense to the city.

It is the first time in the history of the Legion or the city that a band concert has been given in the park on Christmas morning.

Bone Broken In Winter Ball Game

December baseball in California was today blamed by Lorenzo Gonzales, 20, Anaheim youth, for a broken jaw he received yesterday afternoon.

He is in the Orange County hospital where he was taken for treatment following the accident. Gonzales slid into third base. The third baseman's knee was in the way and it collided with Gonzales' jaw.

HOUSE TO VOTE ON BEER BILL ON WEDNESDAY

side over the controversial debate, was several times forced to warn that "noise and conversation cannot be permitted."

On the floor of the house, a silent reminder that prohibitionist forces have by no means given up the fight, was former representative Uphaw, Democrat, Georgia, presidential candidate of the prohibition party at the last national election.

Minority Leader Snell interrupted a speaker to ask if the Democratic leadership was going to balance the budget at this session.

Rainey said the beer bill would not return enough revenue in itself to balance the budget, but that much in that direction could be accomplished if "we get as much as we expect from beer."

He proposed to supplement the beer revenue with departmental retrenchments and treasury bonds.

Guess at Revenue. Representative Crowther, Republican, New York, said there was no way to estimate the revenue to come from beer.

"The amount of revenue is just anybody's guess," he said, adding that "if we depend on beer to balance the budget the budget will be unbalanced for a long time."

Crowther brought a shout of applause from the dry bloc when he said beer should not be legalized "as long as the 18th amendment is in the Constitution."

Beer makes people "silly," he said, quoting chemists to the effect that it was injurious and asserted it would be a big disappointment to the farmers of this country. Brewers could only use one per cent of the grain produced in this country," he said.

"It is almost unbelievable," Crowther said, "that amid national disasters this great house should have been asked by an adamant speaker to devote itself to the repeal of the 18th amendment with only 40 minutes debate, and now to attempt to pass the bill to the supreme court to decide whether four per cent beer is intoxicating."

"In years to come the action will be characterized as the quintessence of legislative stupidity."

If not intoxicating he said, the beer should be sold in drugstores with no more regulation than governs the sale of gingerale.

The plan of the committee to tax beer $5 a barrel and place a $1000 occupational tax on brewers, he added, was a method of control which hinted the return of the saloon.

If a higher tax than $5 a barrel is placed on beer, Cullen, Dem., N. Y., said, "you will stop the sale of beer."

He received scattering applause as the Democratic side sought to muster up enthusiasm for the measure. It was Rep. William E. Hull, Rep., Ill., an old time distiller, who really aroused the House's interest.

A student of beer distribution methods and trends from a survey of the Swedish system, he challenged statements that there was no farm relief in the bill.

Farm Relief. "The brewers would consume 100,000,000 bushels of grain and raise the price 15 cents a bushel," he said.

Rep. Sanders of Texas, leader of the Democratic drys, read from a manuscript predictions that a return of liquor would not stem the tide of liquor which pours from speakeasies, and that people would get drunk from the beer, "just as they always did."

Amid laughter, Representative Lankford, Democrat, Virginia, recalled that dry orators said beer was intoxicating while the wets insisted otherwise.

"If this beer is intoxicating I can't vote for the bill," he said. "I want the truth. I suggest that we have the house physician mix up a batch so we can test it for ourselves."

In the midst of debate between Representative Mouser, Republican, Ohio, and Representative Britten, Republican, Illinois, anti-prohibitionist leader, Britten declared that "President Hoover will not veto a beer bill."

"He made this plain in a letter he wrote Senator Sheppard, Democrat, Texas, to the effect that 275 beer is not intoxicating," Britten said.

"When was that written?" several Democrats shouted. "In 1918," the Illinois congressman replied as the house roared with laughter.

Opinion Still Good

Britten stoutly maintained that this opinion written in world war days when Hoover was food administrator still held good.

Mouser taunted Britten with a statement that he was following the Democratic mandate and was "daffy."

Britten, his face flushed with anger, hotly accused Mouser of taking a "bigoted and hypocritical and fanatical attitude." He insisted it was Mouser who was "daffy," because he had followed the "dry case and been defeated for reelection."

Instantly, prohibitionist congressmen were on their feet to defend the beleaguered dry leader.

One, unidentified in the general turmoil, shouted that a man's qualification for office should not be judged "by a glass of beer."

Half of the house was standing and shouting indistinctly, as exclamations were aroused by the exchange of personalities. Mouser ended his speech so hoarse he could not make himself heard above the tumult.

The Ohio congressman was followed by Representative Dyer, Republican, Missouri, who insisted that Wayne E. Wheeler, for years head of the Anti-Saloon League, had once stated that two

Christmas Meditation

The Christmas Season

By REV. C. E. ROBERTS

THIS IS THE Season in which we honor, above all persons around us, the mother and the child. The Christ Child has come to represent throughout Christendom, and to benefit every child; and Mary, especially in Catholic lands, has come to represent all mothers. In Protestant circles, Christmas observance is mostly a children's festival, but in all Christian groups, the tenderest feelings of which we are capable are centered around the babe in the mother's arms. No holiday is so family centered, no story is so wonderful in the retelling, and no season is so joyous, as that of Christmas.

In Northern climes, grey December days have shortened more and more, but by Christmas the sun has begun to creep slowly northward again: as if the very elements themselves would revive our hope, rekindle the cheer, and renew the faith in future days. People in every land celebrate their national heroes and sing their deeds of valor and exploits of war, alas, against their nations. In the Christmas season, however, we celebrate the birthday of the World's Prince and Saviour, we speak a universal language and forget the bounds of color, race or nation: the Christmas martial hymn is a Cradle song.

Tomorrow the theme will be Christmas and the Family.

STOP WATCH OF MEXICAN M. E. RACING FRIEND YOUNG PEOPLE FREES JOCKEY TO GIVE PLAY

Two stories with a Christmas flavor, one of which was sweet and the other not so tasty, came out of the Laguna Beach police court last night, when City Judge Montrose Lestrang heard two reckless driving cases.

Jack Gorriety, 27, a "jumpy" jockey of San Francisco, who is engaged to ride in the hurdle races at Agua Caliente, beginning Christmas day, won his freedom, after spending three days in jail, when a friend put up as security for his $25 fine, a valuable split-second stop watch, with a Swiss movement, that is one of his prized possessions. Finally one friend who was staying in San Diego, said to another:

"I can't let Jack stay in jail over Christmas. I'm going to put up this." He pulled out the prized watch. The sacrifice can be realized only by racing men. That watch is needed for "clocking" the horses in preparation for the races. But apparently a friend is a friend and that is why Judge Lestrang accepted the timepiece, in lieu of cash or a bond.

Keith Lord, 28, 637 1-2 West Seventy-seventh street, Los Angeles, was fined $50 on a reckless driving charge, reduced from the original booked charge of driving while intoxicated. Lord admitted to Police Chief Abe W. Johnson, after he had been picked up by Officer H. D. Allanson inside the city limits, that part of his Christmas money had been spent at Tijuana and that the $50 he will pay for the fine was in a special Christmas fund on time deposit in a bank.

REPORT ARGENTINE IN STATE OF SIEGE

BUENOS AIRES, Dec. 20.—(UP)—The Argentine Republic was under state of siege, virtual martial law, today during investigation of revolt plans of ex-President Hipolito Yrigoyen's alleged supporters.

The government announced that public meetings and other activities usually banned under state of siege would not be prohibited. The only interruption of the usual routine so far occurred Sunday, soon after discovery of the plot, when football games were cancelled.

Police had taken 160 persons into custody, including Yrigoyen, ex-President Marcelo T. De Alvear, former ambassador to Washington, Puredon, and other prominent members of the Radical party. The country remained quiet.

SAFEST

LOS ANGELES (UP)—Many a small child has cried in the dentist's chair, but Mingo, pet monkey of James Glenson, did. He just jumped out of the window and climbed a telephone pole.

and three per cent beer is non-intoxicating.

In the stress of the moment Dyer forgot Wheeler's full name, ending by calling him "Laurel" Wheeler. He was corrected by a number of the members who rose in defiance of parliamentary procedure to make sure that the name went into the record correctly.

Mother and Baby Leave In Plane For Flight Home

Mrs. Webb K. Phillips who, with her 14-months-old son Webb Junior, flew from their home in Pittsfield, Mass., to visit her mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Fred G. Phillips, of Santa Ana, left Saturday for the return trip. Making the return trip as she made the trip west Mrs. Phillips left in an American Airways plane piloted by Eddie Martin.

On the trip west considerable publicity was attracted to Mrs. Phillips and her son through arrangements made by the American Airways to prepare and serve special meals to the baby en route. Through arrangements made by the aviation company chefs met the airplane at all stops with meals, prepared by expert dietitians, piping hot, which were served the baby. The same arrangement has been made for the return trip.

Martin piloted the ship carrying the Phillips family to El Paso. From there Mrs. Phillips and her son flew to Louisville, Ky., where she stopped for two days visiting relatives before starting the final portion of her journey home. She planned to fly to Buffalo, N. Y., and there take train to her home in Massachusetts.

CITY REJECTS DELAY PLEA ON AQUEDUCT JOB

The Santa Ana city council last night opposed the adoption of a resolution by the California Taxpayers' association, Los Angeles division, which according to Mayor Paul Wittmer calls for the discontinuance of all work on the Metropolitan Water district.

A letter received by the council last night from F. J. Hagg, secretary of the league, asked the council's endorsement of the resolution.

Wittmer pointed out to the council that the California Taxpayers' league had always opposed the Metropolitan Water district, that it was made up of big corporations and that he believed the council should oppose the resolution. The vote opposing it was unanimous.

Similar action already had been taken by the Chamber of Commerce.

STEPHENSON SHOWS MORE IMPROVEMENT

Postmaster T. E. Stephenson continues to show "satisfactory improvement" from his recent operation for an abdominal abscess, according to reports today at St. Joseph's hospital where he has been confined for several weeks. Stephenson was better today than at any time since his operation, it was stated.

Continued progress at the present rate of improvement will allow Stephenson to be removed to his home, 1522 North Broadway, within the next two weeks, it was believed.

FILE CHARGES AGAINST THREE IN BABY CASE

Charges of contributing to the delinquency of a minor have been filed against a man and two women, as the result of the sheriff's investigation into the finding of a day-old baby buried in a shallow grave at the Walter Meek home at Huntington Beach road and Smelter avenue.

The charges were preferred by C. W. Riggle, under sheriff against Walter Meek, his sister, Mrs. Betty De Querio and their mother, Mrs. Juda Meek.

They are accused of contributing to the delinquency of Hilda Stambaugh, 18, who, according to the officers has been living with Walter Meek for the past several months at the mother's home. The baby was born on November 16 and is alleged to have died within an hour.

The complaint, a misdemeanor, also sets forth that there was failure on the part of the accused to take out a birth or a death certificate, that no physician was called, and that the coroner was not told of the death. The complaint also alleges that the baby was buried in the confines outside a cemetery, which also is against the law.

The prisoners were taken to Huntington Beach yesterday afternoon where they were arraigned before Justice Chris Pann. Their preliminary examination was set for December 28, and each was held in bail of $1000. Unable to make bail all three are being held in the county jail.

The district attorney ordered the release of Hubert Meek, a brother to Walter, who was arrested with the others at the time the baby's body was found, and no complaint was filed against the ascertained mother of the child.

Deputy Sheriff L. H. Nicholson reported he found the baby's body buried in the back yard. It was in a pasteboard box and had been buried in a shallow grave, dug out with a spoon.

Council Notes

The application of Joseph G. Rose, to open and operate a pool hall at 406 East Fourth street, filed with the council last night, was referred to the police department for an investigation and a report is to be made back to the council at its next regular meeting, January 3.

D. H. Miller's application for a special police officer's badge, was denied by the city council last night, on recommendation of the police department.

A letter to the council from the board of directors of the Santa Ana Unemployed Association asking that bus service be maintained here, was ordered received and filed.

May Shorten Parking Time Limits Here

First reading of an amendment to the city parking ordinance No. 817, which will give the city council a right to change parking times in the downtown district to 45 minutes instead of an hour, was given by the board last night.

Councilman A. C. Hansenjaeger, William Penn and Paul Witmer voted for the amendment, and Councilman E. G. Warner against it.

The amendment does not make the change from one hour parking to 45 minutes parking, but gives the council a right to make the change in downtown districts if it should see fit so to do, in the future.

Warner explained that he voted against the amendment because of the doctors and dentists in the downtown districts who wanted longer parking times for their patients, rather than shorter periods.

D.A.V. HOSTS TO CHILDREN AT ANNUAL PARTY

Disabled veterans and their families today are looking forward eagerly to the annual Christmas party of the Jack Fisher chapter, Disabled American Veterans of the World War, which is to be given at the K. of C. hall, Fourth and French streets, tomorrow night.

A special program has been arranged and as in past years, Clair Coutant's pupils will sponsor a varied and entertaining program for the particular enjoyment of the children but of great interest to the adults as well.

Each child will be remembered by Santa Claus who will be a feature of the party for the children and he will distribute a variety of toys and candies to children of all disabled veterans in Orange county. Invitations have been issued to all known disabled veterans and a large gathering of families is expected at this year's celebration, which has been a feature of the D.A.V. activities since organization in this territory.

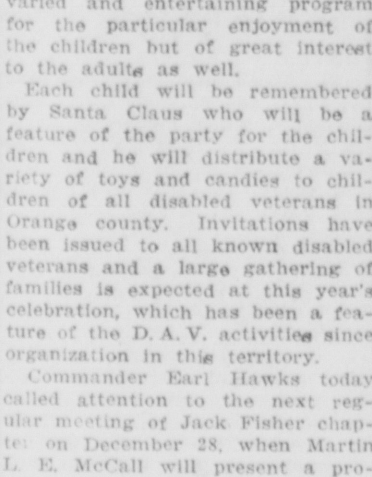

Commander Earl Hawks today called attention to the next regular meeting of Jack Fisher chapter on December 28, when Martin L. E. McCall will present a program of entertainment which he said should attract the largest gathering of veterans in the county.

Silver Cord Lodge 505, F. & A. M., Tuesday, Dec. 20, 8 p. m., open installation of officers; 6:30 dinner for members and families; 50c per plate. Reservations phone 2034-W.

CHILDREN AIDED AT YULE PARTY

Thirty Orange county children in unfortunate circumstances were banquetted and outfitted, by means of gifts, at a party arranged by the women's committee of the Southern Counties Gas company and staged in the clubrooms over the Santa Ana offices last night.

The success of the undertaking led officials to predict that the project might become an annual one.

Prior to the party each woman of the company was assigned one of the children for a shopping tour, on which necessary clothing was purchased. These practical gifts were wrapped for the party and distributed from a Christmas tree by Santa Claus following last night's dinner.

Wives of company officials devoted an entire day to cooperative arrangements, this group including Mesdames C. E. Rutledge, John Ott, L. G. Moore and E. P. Rowland. Women's committee members working in the party's behalf were the Misses Margaret Strom, general chairman; Gertrude Heesch, Mary Jane Owens, Rita Hermer, Hazel Taylor, Mary Savanna, Ethel Parks; Mesdames Claire Hall, Dorothy Ellis and Dorothy Smith, Santa Ana; Miss Irene McGuire, Miss Marie Van Dewalker, Huntington Beach; Mrs. Gertrude Adams, Mrs. Betty Morris, Newport Beach; Mrs. Edna B. Hauser, Laguna Beach; Mrs. Terra McGowan, San Clemente; Mrs. Viola Hill, Miss Lucille Bennett, Orange; Miss C. Backs, Miss Lois Dunham, Mrs. Josephine Iahn, Anaheim; Mrs. Almyra LaFont, Mrs. Marie Goodson, Fullerton; Mrs. Sadie Trythall, Placentia; Mrs. Mildred Purdy, Brea.

GUARDSMEN ENJOY CHRISTMAS PARTY

Guardsmen of Co. L and Headquarters company of the Third Battalion, 155th Infantry, California National Guard, held their annual Christmas party last night at the guard armory. In addition to the guardsmen their were 75 guests present.

Capt. James B. Pettit, commander of Company L, made a few introductory remarks before turning the entertainment over to Sergeant B. J. Smith who acted as master of ceremonies for the evening. Following inspection of the companies Dr. Roy Horton talked on the development of the pistol from the first crude gun up to the present weapon and exhibited a portion of his gun collection.

Sheriff Logan Jackson spoke on the organization of the sheriff's office and introduced Herman Zabel of the bureau of identification. Zabel showed a series of lantern slides, made by his department, showing the workings of the various departments of the jail including road work being done in Irvine park by prisoners sentenced to hard labor.

The arrival of Santa Claus was one of the big moments of the evening. Following his arrival he distributed gifts to various members of the guard company and to some of the guests. One of the outstanding gifts was a huge cannonball and chain presented to Sheriff Jackson.

DR. J. I. CLARK HEADS STAFF AT S. A. HOSPITAL

New staff officers for the Santa Ana Valley hospital were elected last night at a meeting and dinner served by Mrs. Joel Ogle, superintendent of the hospital and several nurses to all members of the hospital staff. There were 35 doctors in attendance.

Dr. J. I. Clark was named chairman of the staff for the coming year; Dr. Harry Huffman, vice chairman, and Dr. James L. Farrage, secretary.

The advisory board for the new year named were: Drs. J. N. Burlew, Dr. D. A. Harwood and Dr. John Ball.

The event, an annual one, was made into a Christmas party for the doctors, who sat down to a festive board fitted out at the hospital. Christmas decorations were carried out extensively and the party was a Yuletide event in every way.

Those who assisted Mrs. Ogle were: Miss Elizabeth Spahr, Mrs. Ted Faulkner, Miss Mildred Reed and Mrs. Ira Kroese.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG -- News Behind the News --

WASHINGTON
By Paul Mallon

WETS

Some eastern Republican wets are organizing a sub-rosa insurrection against their party Floor Leader Bert Snell. They have been quietly buttonholing their brethren in dark corners sounding out the chances of Representative James W. Wadsworth for Snell's job. So far they have met with a fairly good response.

If they get far enough along with their movement they will pit Wadsworth against Snell when leaders of the new congress are chosen after March 4.

The wets seem to feel Snell has not given the Republican party in the house the kind of leadership it ought to have. He voted for the Garner repeal resolution but he did not try to push the resolution through. Up to this time he has always been considered a dry.

Back in their minds also is the idea of pushing Wadsworth forward as a presidential candidate in 1936.

They think they can build him up to that prominence if they can only get the leadership.

Wadsworth is thoroughly capable. There is no doubt about that. He was in the senate for many years. He lost out when Republican dries in his state rebelled against his wet stand. Now the times seem made for him.

Snell got the leadership two years ago by kicking out Tillson. He has been very successful. Both he and Wadsworth are conservative.

Snell has not heard about the movement against him but when he does the fur will fly.

SCOTCH

Mister Stimson was peevish about the New York Times saying that laughter came from the room where he and Treasury Secretary Mills were writing the second debt note to the British.

The Secretary of State let it be known that he thought such a trivial thing should not appear in newspapers. He declined to indicate what the laughter was about.

Rumor has it that the unseemly laughter was provoked when Mister Mills made an observation about two Scotchmen in this debt situation—MacDonald and Herriot with Herriot more Scotch than MacDonald.

CANNON

It was a new Bishop Cannon who appeared here early in the week. His familiar crutches were gone. So was the cane. He strode erect. His dictatorial manner of drier days was nowhere in evidence. He spoke persuasively before the house bear committee.

One of the tricky questions was: "If the Supreme Court agreed 275 per cent beer was not a violation of the constitution, would your church punish its members for drinking that beer?"

The Bishop's ready answer was: "If a member of my church drank 275 per cent beer and became drunk, the Supreme Court would be overruled and the church would act accordingly."

There is no other dry leader here with anything near the Bishop's political ability. Evidences are increasing that he seeks to return to prominence in the movement.

His prospects are not good.

MEXICO

Nobody is paying attention now to the trouble brewing below the Rio Grande. They will within the next few months when it becomes first page news.

The work of Senator Morrow is being undone bit by bit. The latest trivial incident is the protest of Mexico against a flight of American planes over the border Nov. 22. Flares were dropped and ignited forests. That is piled atop a series of other trivialities—the murder of two Mexican boys in the midwest, troubles of consuls with prohibition agents. They make a formidable obstacle to friendliness, all together.

Our worries will commence if the Japs try to get another foothold down there.

MOLEY

Gov. Roosevelt is keeping in close contact with Democratic senators. He sent his economic adviser Prof. Moley down to see a certain senator last week. Moley was told the senator was busy. His name was not recognized. Nearly two hours later the senate got a long distance telephone call from Albany explaining the Moley visit. The senator sent out scouts to bring Prof. Moley in. They finally found him waiting patiently in the ante chamber, hat in hand. Profuse apologies were delivered.

CONFERENCE

Bernard Baruch, the New York Democratic angel, is wielding a big influence behind the scenes in congress. He manages to keep his name out of the newspapers while doing it.

From the best sources comes news that he may be chairman of the American delegation to the proposed World Economic conference. If not, he will have a lot to do with naming the delegates.

Strong inside pressure is being exerted in both parties to make Senator Smoot a Republican member of the delegation. He would represent the silver states.

WHEAT

The Kaiser Wilhelm Institute for Research has just reported to the German Federal Ministry of Agriculture the development of a new brand of wheat. It will yield twice as many bushels per acre as the one now planted and is not subject to the law of the diminishing return.

If generally adopted this wheat would make Germany independent of imports after 1934. The basis for this discovery was laid in the work of the late Luther Burbank.

NOTES

The Democrats are getting ready to ditch one of their own party members, Atlee Pomerene on the R. F. C. . . . They plan to refuse confirmation of his nomination in the senate and that will put him out March 4. . . . The Texan Jesse Jones, another Democrat on the corporation board, is planning to retire this year. . . . So is Gardner Cowles, the Des Moines publisher. . . . That means complete reorganization of the R. F. C. by Roosevelt. . . . A former bartender, Congressman Palmisano of Baltimore, gave the most authentic wet testimony in the beer hearings. . . . With all this argument over the question whether 3 per cent beer can make a person drunk, none of the legislators has tried to decide from personal experience. . . . A simple solution would be for each member of congress to drink all the 3 per cent beer he can hold and then determine for himself whether he is tight. . . . Maybe the supreme court will do it that way.

NEW YORK By James McMullin COMMITTEES

Lawyers—high grade and otherwise—are closely attentive to the court decision which would permit a list of bondholders from S. W. Straus & Company. Two courts have affirmed the decision but it is still subject to final appeal. If sustained the bar association will have to do some snappy work to head off a horde of easy-money seekers in the legal profession. Informed legal opinion holds that the precedent created by the ruling may do more harm than good nationally.

It used to be that the house which had floated a defaulted bond issue would automatically assume responsibility for the conservation of the bondholders' interests. The theory ran that it was in the best position to do so because it knew most about the issue. Nowadays it seems to be the other way round. Committees are being formed whose members are chosen—like jurymen—because they know nothing about the case.

In the foreign bond field the American Council of Foreign Bondholders—headed by Dr. Max Winkler—is endeavoring to assume the authoritative role that the British Council of Foreign Bondholders holds in England. Its efforts have been blocked by the Investment Bankers' association because some members of the council are affiliated with financial houses. This private war is complicating the situation no end.

WOMEN

The American Woman's association has worked out a plan to aid its unemployed members which has helped them considerably in finding new jobs. First ten vocational groups were formed consisting of unemployed members in the same occupations—advertising, secretarial work, nursing, etc. These groups were given the active cooperation of employed members in executive positions who advised of changing requirements in feminine personnel for different industries.

The jobless women who wished to transpose their training from one profession into a more promising field were given an opportunity for expert instruction—such as for instance in hotel management, insurance and advertising. Quite a few members who were out of luck in their original occupations have been able to make a shift successfully.

UTILITIES

New York awards first prize for optimism to the receivers of Midwest Utilities who are trying to snare a loan of 21 million dollars from the R. F. C. They hope to unfreeze the collateral of Eastern Insull units now held by five New York banks. The effort is being made to protect the Midwest's investment of 40 million dollars in the Eastern companies. Interested bankers here say that unless the R. F. C. has decided to go in for wholesale philanthropy the chances are nil.

JOBBERS

Large manufacturers—especially in the hardware, food and drug trades—have several nice new problems to play with.

One is the practical refusal of jobbers to buy anything before the end of the year. Most jobbers only make one financial statement annually—on December 31. This year they are taking great pains to show lots of cash and very little inventory on their balance sheets. No sales argument has been able to overcome this hankering for official liquidity.

Another worry is the rise of a class of gyp jobbers whose stunt is to grab off stocks at bankrupt sales and then undersell the manufacturers themselves. The manufacturers' lawyers are trying to find a basis for a legal program.

WORLD'S FAIR

Eastern manufacturers are preparing to spend hundreds of thousands of dollars for exhibits at Chicago's 1933 World's Fair. Belief in next year's economic revival is running strongly in these quarters. The building devoted to agriculture and foods is already 80 per cent rented and most exhibitors will load the gun by opening their shows before the official date of June 1st.

CHANGE

One of the bull market's most picturesque figures—Mike Meehan of R. C. A. fame—has just retired from his commission brokerage business and gone back to the comparatively simple life of a floor trader. One by one the officers of the speculative lancers are enlisting in the ranks.

26 PIANOS FREE

Twenty-six pianos, consisting of many leading makes, will be placed in homes of residents of Orange County, and they may use them until we need them, which will be for an indefinite time, at least three months. Our store is crowded and other pianos constantly arriving are taxing our floors to the utmost. Instead of storing and holding them for the usual price, we are going to slaughter the prices and sell them out. We are going to take our loss to do this, and we think it is the sensible thing to do. All instruments not sold outright, will be placed in the homes of families who are interested in owning a piano in the immediate future, and for the valuable advertising we will receive by having good families use them. We reserve the right to select the homes in which these pianos are to be placed.

POSITIVELY NO RENTAL CHARGES

It is an opportunity to find out if your children or any member of your family have musical talent and want to develop it.

You must call at the store to make your selection. No matter if you live out of town, you are just as welcome to one of these instruments as those residing right in the city. Remember, there are no rental charges to this offer, which comes but once in a life time.

BENEFIT FUND REPORT TO BE MADE TONIGHT

A report revealing the exact amount of money made on the recent benefit barbecue at Irvine park which was staged by the Orange County American Legion Council for the unemployed associations in Orange county, will be made at the regular bi-monthly meeting of the Orange County Unemployed associations to be held at 7:30 o'clock tonight in Fullerton.

The meeting will be held in the Unemployed Association of Fullerton headquarters at 233 West Santa Fe street, it was announced today, when Wilbur Getty, chairman of the Legion committee in charge of the event, will deliver the report.

Getty said today that whatever money there is will be given to the unemployed association. At first it was planned to buy foodstuffs for the unemployed groups, but this plan has been abandoned, Getty said. The sum is said to be approximately smaller than was first estimated.

It was not known today exactly how much money had been received through the sale of tickets for the barbecue, because all of the tickets in the various parts of the county have not yet been turned in. The report will be ready for the meeting tonight, however, it was announced.

ARREST TWO MORE YOUTHS FOR THEFT

Two more Santa Ana youths, Kenneth Woodyard, 13, of 107 West Pine street, and Howard Clark, 13, of 508 North Van Ness street, were arrested over the week end, in connection with the theft of oil, gas and tools from a county trap wagon in Trabuco canyon last week.

George Cene, 13, (Kenneth McIntyre, 13 and a 17 year old youth were arrested last Friday in connection with the thefts.

The two youths are being held in the county jail charged with petty theft. Officers have recovered most of the tools reported taken. Thirty gallons of oil and 75 gallons of gasoline also were reported stolen.

JAMES HARDING NEW HEAD OF S.A. MERCHANTS

James N. Harding, former vice chairman of the Merchants Association of Santa Ana, was named to succeed H. E. Willard, retiring chairman, who recently sold out his interest in his store, Willard's Dry Goods store, at a meeting of the board of directors held yesterday noon in Ketter's cafe.

Willard had been president of the organization since August 1, and has been an active association worker. He expressed his regret at having to resign the presidency in a brief talk made at the meeting. He and his wife plan to take a trip to Honolulu in the near future, and to return to Santa Ana afterwards, he announced at the meeting.

Harding, the new president, was one of the leaders in organization of the merchants division of the chamber of commerce, which later withdrew from that body to form a separate association, and he served as temporary chairman prior to Willard's election.

The association has grown steadily since its inception, according to Manager A. Cavalli, and now has approximately 100 members.

ELECT HARDING

James N. Harding, below, was named chairman of the Merchants Association of Santa Ana at a director's meeting held yesterday noon in Ketter's cafe. He succeeds H. E. Willard, who resigned after selling out his business interests in Santa Ana.

OIL PAINTINGS ARE FEATURE IN NEW MARKET

In the grocery department of the new Empire Market in the Broadway building at Second and Broadway, which opens for the inspection of the public at 6 o'clock tonight, in place of the usual signs and signs which characterize most large markets, 12 hand painted oil paintings are placed around the walls.

Use of the paintings in place of gaudy signs is an innovation in markets in Santa Ana. The paintings have good suggestions as the theme of the series, and the excellency of the work and the colors enhance the beauty of the market in general.

Housed in a modern and attractive building, the new Empire Market is considered one of the most modern and beautiful markets in the United States.

Green and cream tile, combined harmoniously with trimmings of black, has been liberally used for all counters, as well as walls, in the interior of the market. Modernistic trimmings and decorations combine to further the restful color scheme used in the interior.

S. A. Students Are Honored at U. S. C.

Halstead McCormac of Santa Ana, is included among 124 California Gold Seal Bearers honor students enrolled in the University of Southern California. It was announced today by school officials. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. McCormac of this city.

The students were honored by the California Scholarship federation with gold seals on their secondary diplomas for maintaining an exceptional scholastic average during their high school days.

Mary Clonfi, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Clonfi of Santa Ana, is also included in the group. She is president of the school of speech. McCormac is president of the college of music.

CITY IN UPPER BASIN SEEKING SUIT EXEMPTION

Exemption from federal court action, instituted by the Irvine company to block water conservation and flood control in the upper Santa Ana basin as being detrimental to interests of Orange county land owners may be claimed by the city of San Bernardino, according to the board of water commissioners of that city and Superintendent William Starke of the municipal water department.

City Attorney William Guthrie, in charge of the city of San Bernardino's defense of the action, is being furnished by the engineering and water department with maps and data showing that the city is carrying on all of its water conservation operations within the city limits, except for those in Lytle creek canyon.

The Irvine company has filed suit in federal court to establish its water rights and to halt the work of cities, associations and water companies now engaged in spreading flood waters of the stream and its tributaries. San Bernardino is named one of the defendants in this action.

There will be a second conference of defendants named in the Irvine Co. lawsuit some time next week, according to Francis Cottle of Riverside, leader of the movement to compromise the action and president of the Tri-County group.

Maybe We Just Thought It Was Winter

Notwithstanding the rain, cold and even snow which has already descended upon Santa Ana and Orange county, it was insisted today by the Naval Observatory in Washington, D. C., that winter in North America does not begin until tomorrow, which incidentally is the shortest day in the year.

It was explained when the southern declination of the sun reaches its extreme, bringing the shortest day of the year.

The difference in duration of sunlight today, tomorrow and the next day, however, is measured in the hundredths of seconds, which makes the difference between autumn and winter infinitesimal.

In Europe winter doesn't start until day after tomorrow.

ORDER OBSTRUCTION TAKEN FROM WALK

A week ago the city council ordered the sidewalk on the east side of Main street between Fourth and Fifth streets opened to the public and a letter was sent to William Rohrbacher, contractor, to take down the shed over the walks, adjacent to where excavation has been made for a new building.

Nothing has been done, the council was informed last night and the matter was referred to the city attorney with instructions that Rohrbacher be ordered to remove the barricade immediately.

PRESENTING SANTA ANA'S NEWEST MARKET

MANY GIVEN WORK AS STORE OPENS

Opening of the new Empire Market in the Broadway building at Second and Broadway streets at 6 o'clock tonight will give more than 40 persons steady employment, it was learned today. With the exception of a few department managers, who, however, are making Santa Ana their home, all of the persons employed are Santa Ana residents. Even more than that number will be given partial employment at rush periods, including Saturdays.

Beautiful potted plants grown at our own greenhouses. Flowerland, Sycamore at Washington and 510 North Broadway.—Adv.

has been used in the cutting rooms to insure cleanliness. Modern refrigeration will guarantee freshness at all times. Fifteen butchers will wait on customers.

Local Meats

Freedom of meats to be sold in the market is further guaranteed by the fact that the meats are delivered daily to the market from the McIntosh packing plant in Wintersburg, only 15 minutes from Santa Ana. McIntosh also operates a market in Huntington Beach and has been in the meat business in Orange county for 12 years.

A new type of scales, the Dayton Customered, is used in the market. Five of these scales which permit the customer to read the money, value and weight of each purchase, have been installed. Tommy Gault, who is making his home in Santa Ana, will be manager of the market.

W. R. Crowther, well known in Santa Ana, will operate the Empire Fruit and Vegetable market in the north side of the market. Crowther has been in the fruit and vegetable business in Santa Ana for about eight years and already operates two other stands in the city.

Thomas Rice has taken a lease on the bakery in the new market. Mrs. Marguerite Lee will be store manager of the bakery department.

Probably the best equipped and most complete delicatessen in the city is included in the market set-up. The delicatessen is just north of the meat market and will be under the management of Myrtle Shields, formerly with the California Food store. Every type of prepared dish conceivable will be handled in the delicatessen.

W. C. T. U. CONVENES

BREA, Dec. 20.—Members of the Brea W. C. T. U. met recently with Mrs. Donald Gaylord. Mrs. Kate Woodward led the devotion. Discussion was held on ways and means of increasing the interest of probable that Hall and Summers, dramatic entertainers, who appeared here some time ago, will be asked for a return engagement. Mrs. Woodward will entertain the group January 20.

'AFTERMATH' GIVEN IN CHURCH TONIGHT

FULLERTON, Dec. 20.—"The Aftermath," written and to be presented tonight by Hall and Summers, debaters on "Wet vs. Dry" before election November 8, is a dialogue depicting present economic disturbances, food, unemployment, taxes and money shortage.

The scene of the presentation is the Methodist church at 7:30 o'clock. The public is invited.

MANY SHOPPERS FIND VARIETY AT MONTGOMERY WARD

With Christmas shopping drawing to a close, great throngs of shoppers are finding just what they are seeking in the many departments of the Montgomery Ward and company store at Second and Broadway, where Christmas bargains are to be found in every department.

The toy department of the store night with crowds who find all kinds of toys and where Santa Claus himself holds full sway. He has been the attraction which has lured thousands of children to the store.

In the windows a daily show is carried on by Lo Lo, famous clown, who keeps a crowd watching his comic antics.

Not only is the store doing an unusual Christmas business in its toy department, but many persons are buying furniture for presents this year and the second floor of the Montgomery Ward and company store offers many attractive buys in this line, according to Manager T. E. Madden.

Anything needed for Christmas can be found at Montgomery Ward and Company, from automobile accessories, clothing, household goods to toys, Madden says.

PREPARE BILLS ON GAS TAX DIVISION

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 20.—(UP)—California counties and cities would gain added revenue from a more equal division of state gasoline tax funds under two measures which will be introduced in the 1933 legislature by Senator William E. Harper of San Diego.

The first proposed measure would divide the gasoline tax equally between the county and the state, instead of two-thirds to the state and one-third to the county under the present laws.

The second measure will provide that one-fourth of the county's share be given to municipalities, and that the city's share may be used to retire street bonds if the local officials deem it necessary.

18 GOLF STARS TO PLAY HERE FRIDAY

'Depression' Threatens Santa Ana Football

SLIDES
WILLIAM BRAUCHER

Baseball moguls and old-timers of the recent minor league contest in Columbus, O., revealed the fact that baseball is fast becoming a game for "big states."

True Speaker recalled the good old days when an out-of-the-way word provoked a flurry of hard hits and brought on bruised heads and sometimes an ambulance.

John Marquand, when the name of John McGraw entered the conversation, stood on his hind legs and howled that the old type of hitting manager, who could say "No" to an umpire without quaking in his boots, left with the exit of John.

George Burns, former big league first sacker, opined that the vicious hostility that used to hold forth between the bleachers and outfielders was so colorful that it filled the stands every day, and that the attendance, now in the doldrums, would increase if this situation was in evidence now.

SAY IT ISN'T SO, BOYS

If what the boys say is true, the grand old game has gone to the bow-bows. Ticket takers might as well apply for a job at the World's Fair next year, managers should look up the nearest home for the aged, and ball players themselves ought to start training for six-day bicycle racing.

But a hasty glance over the past year seems to indicate that all these bear stories aren't exactly correct. The ball season of 1932 produced two memories of the old-time brawls, and several fielder-bleacherite encounters that should have increased attendance considerably.

DICKEY VS. REYNOLDS

How about that Bill Dickey-Carl Reynolds affair? Wasn't that a scrap, Tris? Or maybe breaking a guy's jaw is considered a pink tea affair these days.

Here's all that happened on that day of the memorable fight between the Washington Senators and the New York Yankees:

Dickey had been bumped around at home plate the day before at Boston. In trying to catch Babe Ruth, he was hit in the back with the ball. Reynolds was tired of getting hit with the ball. So he came in standing up and bumped Dickey. Dickey proceeded to bump Carl on the jaw with a rock—the first that he broke it, the jaw, in two places.

The afternoon then went along smoothly. Babe Ruth took one of Dickey's legs from under him at second. Allen hit Dickey in the arm with a hard pitch, and Dickey turned him upside down. Dickey retaliated by sliding to get with his feet in the air and hitting Lou's pants with his spikes.

Oh, it was a nice, quiet afternoon!

MORIARTY VS. CHICAGO

Then there was that Moriarty-Chicago White Sox battle royal which saw old George hold his own against all the forces. Manager Lou Fonseca could muster in the gangway leading from the Cleveland playing field to the clubhouse.

After eight or nine guys had piled on, and they couldn't tell who was George, the fight ceased with the burly ump unscathed except for a bruised hand, which he probably damaged on some ball player's hard knock, and a few scratches.

As for the bleacherites and outfielders ceasing their razzing—well, go see the Tanks play away from home someday and see the unmerciful razzing the old Babe has to stand up under.

The boys may be kiddies nowadays, but they sure have got the old self-control.

Jim Thorpe Again Father; It's Boy

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 20.—(UP)—A nine-pound son was born today to Mrs. James Thorpe, wife of the famous Indian athlete.

SEVEN GOLF BROTHERS

There are seven Turnesa brothers now competing in golf matches in the United States. The youngest is Willie, who is just breaking into the game in New York.

PROSPECTS FOR '33 TEAM ONLY FAIR, OPINION

BY GRIDDER

Was Santa Ana's defeat by Inglewood the forerunner to a periodic Santa Ana high school football depression?

Local observers pondered this unanswerable question today as they prepared to enter the 1933 gridiron campaign, one of the most successful in forty-odd years of the sport here.

All good things must end sometime, they say, and so Santa Ana's can hardly expect to hold championship and near-championship teams manufactured at their football foundry every year, even with such a master mechanic as "Tex" Oliver superintending the work.

Athletic success inevitably runs in cycles, even among high school teams, and critics here know that Santa football will always be on a high plane as long as Oliver carries they are prepared for almost anything next season—even a series of defeats.

Veterans Graduate

Thirty-four members of the 1932 Santa squad will be graduated in June, or will be ineligible for further competition at HI.

Returning are approximately 20 members of this season's team, but few of those will be lettermen or even outstanding substitutes.

The development of a backfield to replace such high class players as Captain "Red" Kidder, Floyd Montgomery, Lee Hamilton, Francis Conrad, Sammy Tucker, Clair Preininger and Bob Mitchell will be one of 1933's major problems. At this distance, the raw material appears only mediocre.

Art Stranks, a pile-driving full-back with plenty of possibilities, will be the only man sure of a job. Stranks should help atone for the loss of the consistent Kidder, who was a full-game football player this year and completed a brilliant three-year prep career with the finest game of his life against Inglewood. Stranks weighs more than Kidder right now, and should scale near the 280-pound figure by next September. He is a hard-hitting back, fairly fast and clever in the open. He can pass and kick fairly well, too.

Hales, Duncan Good Prospects

Two other prospects are Half-backs Paul Hales and Herb Duncan. Hales' size is against him but at 145 pounds he was the hardest-hitting man on the Santa club this season. Duncan, something of a disappointment this term, has fine possibilities on which he should capitalize with a year's maturity and experience.

Waldo Smith, a fiery little fellow, looks like he had an inside track to the quarterback's job. Calvin Breeding will be another strong candidate. Other backfield hopefuls are Bruce Schweisheim, the fastest boy in school but very light; Ray Clark, a right halfback who played on the third string; Richard White, light but fast; Byron Nott, a fullback who is a cousin of "Toy" Blower, and Ray Rogers, a rugged chap who was on the squad part of the season.

Despite the departure of almost all his regulars, Oliver salvaged a few good men for his 1933 line. Best of the prospects, of course, is the giant Roland ("Big Boy") Williams, who should have little trouble handling left tackle against all comers, friend or foe.

Underwood Returns

Ford Underwood, rugged left guard of this year's club, is another fine player who will be back in '33. Underwood wasn't so hot

Bad Weather Annoys Pitt Grid Leader

DALLAS, Tex., Dec. 20.—(UP)—Cold, stormy weather greeted the University of Pittsburgh football squad when it arrived here today for a one day stopover en route to Pasadena where Pitt faces Southern California in the annual Tournament of Roses game.

The train bearing the Pittsburgh players was delayed by bad weather which forced holding workouts at scheduled stops. Coach John Sutherland said he would hold a short practice on Southern Methodist university's field this afternoon. Rain and freezing weather which has made the gridiron a quagmire may force the Pittmen to hold their workouts indoors.

Sutherland said his squad of 36 men was in good condition with one exception. His cripple, Captain Paul Reider, is not expected to get into the game against the Californians.

Their special train will leave here tonight at 7 p. m. A one hour stopover at El Paso is scheduled before they arrive at Tucson, Ariz., where the team will hold workouts for 10 days.

RUTH PREDICTS SLUMP IN FOXX BATTING MARKS

BY JACK CUDDY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Dec. 20.—(UP)—Babe Ruth thinks Jimmy Foxx, first baseman of the Philadelphia Athletics, probably will have in 1933 a greatly changed set of official figures for home runs, runs batted in, and bases on balls than those released today by the American league.

Today's figures for the past season show Foxx topping his circuit with 169 runs batted in and ranking second to Ruth's 130 bases on balls with 116. But, the Babe pointed out while casting Jimmy's horoscope, these figures were obtained by Foxx while Al Simmons, hard-hitting outfielder, was still with the Athletics.

"That's right," agreed the writer, "and Simmons moves his baggage to the Chicago White Sox next season. But what's that got to do with Foxx?"

"Well," said the big fellow, laying his pen and a Christmas box on the living room table, "Simmons always preceded Foxx in the batting order, and being a dangerous hitter he collected quite a few passes that the pitchers' hand to Jimmy next year. He'll be the A's one big fear, and opposing teams will have him walking over time."

Simmons collected 47 bases on balls last season, and the Babe figures a lot of these will be added to Jimmy's 1932 total. The most important angle about this, for Babe, is that it probably will prevent Foxx from threatening the Ruthian all-time home run record of 60.

Ruth had a bad scare last season when Jimmy blasted 58.

"I'm confident Jimmy won't beat my record next season," the famous Yankee right fielder continued, "and there's a strong possibility now that he may never beat it. It's hard to roll up a lot of home runs if you can't get a swipe at the ball, how I know!"

Simmons Tie

With Foxx leading the list, Lou Gehrig, first baseman of the Yankees and Al Simmons of the A's tied for second place with 151 runs batted in each. Ruth came fourth with 137, and Earl Averill of Cleveland fifth with 124. Fourteen players batted in 100 or more runs.

Only four were awarded 100 or more bases on balls. After Ruth and Foxx, Gehrig came third with 108 passes, and Mickey Cochrane, the A's catcher, had an even 100. The Yankees established a new club record of 766 bases on balls for the season.

Joe Sewell, diminutive Yankee leader, struck out only three times in 154 games to lead the league. This gave him a total of 110 for his 13 years in the American circuit. Bruce Campbell, outfielder who played 146 games with Chicago and Detroit, struck out the most, 104 times. Strangely enough, Jimmy Foxx had the second largest strikeout total of 96 in 154 games.

FIVE MEN BACK

Minnesota has five lettermen back for basketball competition this year. They are Captain Brad Robinson, Wells Wright and Walter Schochack, forwards, and Virgil Licht and Myles Mace, guards.

SNAPES, GIANT AMATEUR, TOPS DELHI'S TRIPLE EVENT CARD; EXPECT SEASON'S BEST CROWD

A triple main event, featured by the first competitive appearance here of six-foot-nine Elvin Snapes, is expected to lure the year's largest turnout to Sam Sampson's Orange County Athletic club at Delhi tonight. Ten three-round bouts are on the card arranged by Matchmaker Kid Mexico.

The three main events are:

Reggie Kerr, Anaheim, vs. Tony (Knockout) Lee, 152 pounds; Elvin Snapes vs. Sam Davis, heavyweights, and Nat Mills, Irvine, vs. Joe Disck, Los Angeles, 135 pounds.

Snapes is the Primo Carnera of the amateur division. An Australian, Snapes is the personal protégé of Jim Jeffries, former heavyweight champion, who believes the giant is a good prospect, or if not that at least a fistie novelty who should make some money.

Snapes weighs 212 pounds. He measures 18 inches around the neck; chest, 44 inches; waist, 34 inches; reach, 86 1/2 inches; forearm, 12 3/4 inches; wrist, 3 1/4 inches; thigh, 21 inches; calf, 14 1/2 inches; ankle, 10 1/8 inches, and pulls on No. 16 shoes.

His opponent, Davis, is a colored Los Angeles policeman who will scale approximately 200 pounds. Snapes will be favored to stop him.

The Kerr-Lee and Mills-Disck bouts are both popular rematches. Kerr scored over Lee several weeks ago when Lee hurt his hand in the second round after taking a shellacking up until the injury. Opinion is divided as to the outcome tonight.

Disck outpointed Irvine's Mills two weeks ago although the affair was close enough to warrant a return engagement. Disck is an Argentine who is supposed to have lasted 15 rounds with Baby Arizmendi in Mexico City.

Three changes in the card were revealed today by Matchmaker Kid Mexico. Vic Orsoso, Santa Ana lightweight, has replaced Fred Olivis in the curtain-raiser against San Santiago. Bill Wana, Westminister 135-pounder, takes Orsoso's place in the second spot against Eddie Pruitt. Raoul Solis and Baby Fleet, junior lightweights, replace Sal Solis and Ben Golindo in the sixth bout.

Yankees Shorten Training Season To Cut Expenses

NEW YORK, Dec. 20.—(UP)—The champion New York Yankees, one of the two major league clubs who made money this year, will shorten their training season a week in 1933 to reduce expenses.

Their training schedule, announced today, calls for pitchers and catchers to report at St. Petersburg, Fla., March 1, a week later than usual, and the infielders and outfielders are due March 8.

This allows Manager Joe McCarthy just about a month to whip all of his players into shape for their title defense, the shortest Yankee training season in 15 years.

EASTERN STARS OFF FOR SHRINE CONTEST

CHICAGO, Dec. 20.—(UP)—A selected group of football players from Eastern and Middle Western schools left here last night, bound for California, where an all-star team from the Pacific Coast will meet in the annual Shrine charity game at San Francisco January 2.

Coach Dick Hanley of Northwestern and Coach Andy Kerr of Colgate sent the players through a light drill yesterday.

FAR FROM HOME

Earl E. Leslie, alumnus of Oregon State College, is the new basketball coach of Penn State College this year.

"I want a job in the mutuels," said he.

"What can you do I asked?"

"I can do anything anybody else can do," replied the young man.

"Go home," retorted Gilmarlin. "A man who can do that doesn't belong in any mutual department."

Col. Charles Augustus Lindbergh took the advice, walked out and five months later soared the Atlantic to immortal fame.

"Had I given him employment," Col. Lindbergh today would still be a mutual clerk. Once a mutual clerk always a mutual clerk," mused Gil.

STORY REVEALS LINDBERGH'S DESIRE FOR RACE TRACK JOB

AGUA CALIENTE, Dec. 20.—Shaun Gilmarlin, mutual manager at the Agua Caliente Jockey club, once had an encounter with Col. Charles A. Lindbergh that takes place among the classical turf narrations of all time.

"When we were at Fairmont some years ago," Gilmarlin explains, "we had a fair in connection with the sport. As an added attraction a young fellow flew an airplane around the course every afternoon, doing stunts for which we paid him $5 or $10 a day.

"One day this young chap came into my office.

JONES RECALLS S. C. SQUAD TO PRACTICE WORK

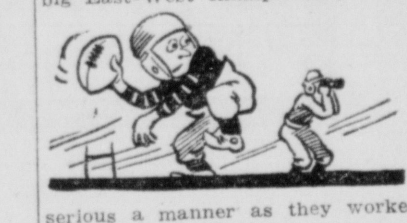

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 20.—(UP)—Coach Howard Jones recalled his Southern California football warriors from their round of pink teas, speech-making and other social pursuits today to renewed practice sessions on the gridiron.

While Pittsburgh was rolling westward for its invasion of Rose Bowl January 2, the Trojan squad settled down to vigorous drills in which offensive tactics were being stressed.

"It's a serious proposition," admonished Coach Jones who feared a mental letdown on the part of the Trojans because of their victory over Notre Dame two weeks ago.

Ernie Smith, All-American tackle, was missing from yesterday's initial workout, rehearsing for his stage debut at a downtown local theater. The burly lineman, who blows a mean trombone in the Trojan band which is booked for the theatrical engagement, was due back in the lineup today, however.

Although Jones plans no radical changes in his offense or lineup, he is keeping practice sessions secret and has his men preparing for the big East-West championship in as serious a manner as they worked for the Irish battle.

The Trojan coaching staff is handicapped in making its defensive plans as no S. C. scouts saw the Pitt eleven in action this season. The Panthers are known to be using both the double-wingback and single-wingback formations and the Southern California staff faces a problem in building a defense that will be prepared for either.

The squad of 37 that is being kept in training for the game follows:

Right ends—Palmer, Browning, Biggs.

Centers—Yonel, Jorgensen, Gentry.

Quarterbacks—Griffith, Warburton, Workins, Matthews.

Left halfbacks—McNeish, Clark, Rehn, Bright.

Right halfbacks—Mens, Erskine, Shannon, Fay.

Fullbacks—Barber, Beard, Morrison, Gett.

HUNTINGTON BEACH BEATS WILLOWICK

Huntington Beach nosed out Willowick, 91-2 points to 81-2, in an inter-club golf match, the first of a series between clubs who he swaps punches with Speedy Dado, California champion, in the main bout at the Olympic.

The fight is scheduled for 10 rounds.

Another state championship title is involved in a scheduled 10-round engagement between Varlas Milling, featherweight titlist, and Babe Collins, Mexican.

GLASS-HARD

● Incredible as this may seem—"BLUE BLADE" edges actually will cut glass. Hundreds of shavers accepted our recent invitation to prove this by test. Here is positive evidence of the "BLUE BLADE'S" amazing quality. The steel is hardened by secret process in electric furnaces. Temperatures are automatically adjusted to the special requirements of the metal as the steel passes through the furnaces in long strips. This assures uniformity and a type of temper that permits phenomenally sharp shaving edges. You will never know how comfortable a shave can be until you try the "BLUE BLADE." bow to Santa Ana this evening when a "prevue" is held between 7 and 10 o'clock tonight. It is located at Second street and Broadway.

The first official announcement of this evening's informal opening, was made by the Empire Market over KREG this morning, when it sponsored an organ concert by Art Cannon between 11:30 and 12 o'clock. The organ recital was presented by Cannon on the Fox Broadway theatre console.

The second program of the day by the Empire Market over KREG is scheduled for this evening at 8 o'clock. During this half hour, the new market will feature musical selections by Red Nichols and His Orchestra exclusively, by means of electrical recording, and will include many favorite orchestral pieces by this well known maestro of dance rhythm. Two concert arrangements will also be heard.

Announcement was made over this morning's KREG program, that tonight's "prevue" is simply an opportunity for the public to inspect this modern market, to view the splendid fixtures and to become acquainted with the latest trend of food marketing. Ray McIntosh, proprietor of the meat market within the Empire mart, and Arthur Jones, owner of the grocery, are authorities for the statement that all visitors have a number of surprising treats in store for them.

Everyone will be presented with gifts from the grocery, meat, delicatessen, vegetable and bakery divisions. McIntosh says that he will dispense generous gift packages of Wilson's pure pork sausages to all those attending tonight's preliminary opening. The formal opening takes place tomorrow.

Tonight nothing will be on sale. There will be no opportunity to spend money, the officials declare. "We have gifts waiting for all visitors and we simply want to get acquainted," they said.

Politically Speaking

BY HOMER L. ROBERTS

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 20.—(UP)—

Governor Rolph's biennial budget to be presented to the 1933 legislature which convenes here January 2 will total $232,000,000.

In order to balance the budget, Rolph A. Vandegrift, state director of finance, will recommend slashing $48,000,000 in state expenditures, a 15 per cent reduction over the 1931-32 budget.

Here are the "reasonable" reductions Vandegrift recommends:

Education, $11,000,000; salary reductions, $1,800,000; reducing the state's contribution to superior judge's salaries, $325,000; readjustment of tuberculosis subsidies, $500,000; increasing old age pension eligibility from 70 to 75 years, $2,127,000; payment of high interest and bonds from gasoline tax revenue, $8,500,000; making dairy inspection self-supporting, $400,000; providing tuition fees for state teacher colleges, $600,000; abolishing California Polytechnic school, $300,000; and state nautical school, $234,000.

Refund Salaries

After it was proved that the voluntary contribution plan for state employees had failed to work because high-salaried officials had refused to contribute, Governor Rolph ordered the plan discontinued.

Realizing that employees could use the money they had contributed before Christmas, the governor requested that the refunds be made in time to reach the workers by Yuletide. Approximately $600,000 had been collected was passed out.

Political Gossip

Supreme Justice Emmett Sewell will administer the oath of office to members of the electoral college which meets here January 4....Joseph Anderson handed his resignation to Governor Rolph as attorney for the division of narcotic enforcement....No reason given, but it was reported he couldn't get along with George Home, new chief of the division.

Charles W. Paine was appointed secretary of the California state fair board for the twentieth year.

Repeal of the state's prevailing wage law will be sought at the next legislature....The California Builders' Exchange is sponsoring the movement.

NURSE DETERMINED TO WIN SEPARATION

Mrs. Martha Caroline Peltier, a nurse, is determined to have a legal separation from her husband, John Joseph Peltier.

She has filed suit in superior court seeking a divorce decree, custody of the couple's child and a sufficient amount each month for support of the child. She also incorporated in her complaint a petition for annulment of her marriage to Peltier. The annulment complaint is on the grounds that last July Fourth, her husband informed her that he had been married before and had never secured a divorce from his first wife.

In her application for a divorce Mrs. Peltier alleges that her husband has associated with other women. She also charged him with threatening to take their child away and saying that he would kill it before allowing the mother to have it. She also alleged that last year while they were living on charity, her husband told her that he was seeking work but in reality spent his time in motion picture shows.

The Peltiers were married February 19, 1924, in Los Angeles and separated July 25, last.

City Council Decides Against Sunday Baseball

CONTROVERSY ENDED: BOWL NOT BIG ENOUGH

There will be no Sunday baseball in the Santa Ana Municipal Bowl.

The city council, last night, without argument unanimously passed a motion denying the Santa Ana Merchants baseball team the right to use the Bowl, on the grounds that the Bowl is not adequate in which to play regulation baseball, due to the fact that one field was only 156 feet deep when it should be 250 feet deep.

At the same time, members of the council pointed out that the denial of the request was not made on the grounds that it was opposed to Sunday baseball particularly.

The decision brings to an end a controversy of several weeks' duration between persons attempting to use the Bowl for baseball, church people of Santa Ana who were opposed to opening the city Bowl for Sunday games, and residents of the neighborhood of the Bowl, who objected on the grounds that too much noise would result.

Several petitions were sent to the council, one of which contained the names of some 1100 church people of the city. Another contained 50 names of persons residing in the vicinity of the Bowl. Both opposed the proposal for using the Bowl for baseball on Sunday.

On the other hand there was a petition asking that the Santa Ana team be allowed the use of the Bowl and was signed by some 35 merchants and baseball lovers. The council meditated over the request for three weeks, before reaching its decision.

LIFE STORY OF FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT

By Leland M. Ross and Allan W. Grobin

(This intimate story of the life of Franklin Delano Roosevelt, beginning with the time his father took him as a 5-year-old to call on his close friend, Grover Cleveland, then President of the United States, carries the reader through the development of his political career, which began with a New York State Senatorship. Recent installments told of F. D.'s courageous fight against infantile paralysis, and of the work of the Warm Springs Foundation, which he established in Georgia after deriving great benefits from the baths there. In 1928 he worked for the third time for the nomination of Alfred E. Smith as President, and then for his election. Although the national ticket was beaten, Roosevelt was elected governor of New York, running far ahead of the national ticket. He was re-elected in 1930 by a plurality of 725,000, the largest ever given to any candidate. The Republicans, who still controlled the legislature, demanded that the governor institute a city-wide investigation of the New York City government. He told the legislature it was its prerogative to vote such an inquiry.)

INSTANTLY 31

Meanwhile, New York had contracted a veritable investigation fever.

No sooner had the investigation of District Attorney Crain been definitely launched than the City Affairs committee, a civic organization headed by the Reverend John Haynes Holmes and Rabbi Stephen S. Wise, drafted charges against Mayor James J. Walker and asked his removal from office. They sent their request to Roosevelt.

Instantly Governor Roosevelt was beset by three forces:

Tammany men who howled for dismissal of the charges.

Republicans who howled for the dismissal of Walker.

Roosevelt-for-President partisans who feared action by F. D. might hurt their cause.

To the governor, however, all of them were untenable positions. The charges were too general to justify overt action by the state executive; yet they were serious enough to merit consideration. He took a course which might have cost him much politically—and which could gain him nothing—politically.

He sent the charges to Mayor Walker himself and demanded a reply.

When Walker had made a detailed answer, Roosevelt decided the charges behind the motion for the mayor's dismissal had not been sustained; but he had no smile, no approving gesture for the New York mayor. It was a cold, legal dismissal of charges—a matter of prerogative.

In the Spring of 1931, various charges—most of them not specific—were made against Brooklyn magistrates. Governor Roosevelt suggested to the Brooklyn Appellate Division of the Supreme Court that it conduct an investigation similar to that which Samuel Seabury had already been ordered to conduct in Manhattan.

The Brooklyn Division declined to do so.

Meanwhile the Republicans were themselves in the "hole"; they had prepared for the governor.

State Chairman W. Kingland Macy made another of his hurried trips to Washington, D. C., and returned with political blood in his eye. Immediately something happened to the recalcitrant Mr. Ward out in Westchester county. Something which caused him to swing suddenly to the support of the legislative city-wide investigation. Macy jammed the measure through as a resolution in order to deny Roosevelt the opportunity of approving it.

Macy's probe passed the senate March 24.

March 30 John Knight received the Federal judgeship appointment from President Hoover which Macy had sought for him.

The Republican National Committee was only a step behind the President. That body promptly issued a statement deploring that "sink hole of corruption, New York City," and instituted a radio campaign in the Southern states to woo Dixie Democrats away from their party.

Thus did they release the Republican cat—from the political bag!

A few days later Governor Roosevelt approved an appropriation of half a million dollars for the investigation; and the Republicans, seeking a chief for their "inquiry," could find only one man who really "filled the bill."

That was Roosevelt's own investigator, Samuel Seabury. Him they appointed; and he accepted—on the condition that he have unlimited authority.

From the day of his appointment, the investigation of New York City's government ceased to be mere political fodder and became a serious, sincere effort to determine how much fire existed beneath the Republicans' black smoke.

Subsequently, charges of malfeasance were brought against George Harvey, Republican Borough President of Queens. They were filed, as usual, with Roosevelt. He heard Harvey's answer and reprimanded him. He indicated that he could not legally remove him from office because it had not been proved that Harvey acquired personal profit from the various border-line activities in which he had been engaged.

Close on the heels of the Harvey decision, came an appeal from Stephen S. Wise, drafted charges against Mayor James J. Walker and asked his removal from office. They sent their request to Roosevelt.

Instantly Governor Roosevelt was beset by three forces:

Tammany men who howled for dismissal of the charges.

Republicans who howled for the dismissal of Walker.

Roosevelt-for-President partisans who feared action by F. D. might hurt their cause.

To the governor, however, all of them were untenable positions. The charges were too general to justify overt action by the state executive; yet they were serious enough to merit consideration. He took a course which might have cost him much politically—and which could gain him nothing—politically.

He sent the charges to Mayor Walker himself and demanded a reply.

When Walker had made a detailed answer, Roosevelt decided the charges behind the motion for the mayor's dismissal had not been sustained; but he had no smile, no approving gesture for the New York mayor. It was a cold, legal dismissal of charges—a matter of prerogative.

In the Spring of 1931, various charges—most of them not specific—were made against Brooklyn magistrates. Governor Roosevelt suggested to the Brooklyn Appellate Division of the Supreme Court that it conduct an investigation similar to that which Samuel Seabury had already been ordered to conduct in Manhattan.

The Brooklyn Division declined to do so.

Meanwhile the Republicans were themselves in the "hole"; they had prepared for the governor.

State Chairman W. Kingland Macy made another of his hurried trips to Washington, D. C., and returned with political blood in his eye. Immediately something happened to the recalcitrant Mr. Ward out in Westchester county. Something which caused him to swing suddenly to the support of the legislative city-wide investigation. Macy jammed the measure through as a resolution in order to deny Roosevelt the opportunity of approving it.

Macy's probe passed the senate March 24.

March 30 John Knight received the Federal judgeship appointment from President Hoover which Macy had sought for him.

The Republican National Committee was only a step behind the President. That body promptly issued a statement deploring that "sink hole of corruption, New York City," and instituted a radio campaign in the Southern states to woo Dixie Democrats away from their party.

Thus did they release the Republican cat—from the political bag!

A few days later Governor Roosevelt approved an appropriation of half a million dollars for the investigation; and the Republicans, seeking a chief for their "inquiry," could find only one man who really "filled the bill."

That was Roosevelt's own investigator, Samuel Seabury. Him they appointed; and he accepted—on the condition that he have unlimited authority.

ARMY KETTLES BOILING HERE TO AID NEEDY

"Keep the pot boiling."

This friendly invitation to the passerby is being heard daily on the downtown street corners as local Salvation Army workers seek funds with which to carry on the Army's Christmas relief activities. In this community, as in all others served by the Army, the homeless men will be provided with a wholesome Yule dinner; baskets brimful of foodstuffs for needy families will be distributed, and toys and a Christmas festival will make glad the hearts of the poor children.

There will be no "forgotten men" hereabouts this Christmas time, is the slogan adopted by Salvation Army workers.

A Christmas tree party is being held Friday night, December 23, at 7:30 o'clock for the poor children of Santa Ana, with their mothers. The Christmas baskets are to be delivered Saturday.

BOARD VOTES TO ABANDON STREETS

PLACENTIA, Dec. 20.—Members of Placentia city council last night voted to abandon certain streets in the Johnston-Wickett subdivision, on a petition presented for H. A. Johnston and William Wickett by C. W. Hyde for the J. L. McBride company, of Santa Ana.

In the petition it was pointed out that the streets were not opened, and that it was the intention of the owners of the property, which lies near the northern limits of the incorporation, to return it to acreage.

In return, the petitioners agreed to deed to the city land enough to extend Melrose northward to the boundary of their lines; to provide an alleyway north of Chapman between Main and Melrose and for an alleyway cut through west of Bradford between Chapman and Marwood, and that portion of Marwood drive northward to Bradford, and to put up a $300 bond to guarantee an earth grading and oiling the proposed improvements. In the extension of Melrose, there will be a slight jog where the Johnston-Wickett tract adjoins the subdivision on the north.

200 Attracted To Men's Club Party

SAN CLEMENTE, Dec. 20.—The fifth annual benefit party for children, given by the Men's club in the Social clubhouse was pronounced a success. At least 200 were in attendance.

This being a forty-niner party, numerous costumes typical of the early California period were seen. Music was furnished by the Cocoanut Grove orchestra from Long Beach. Games were in charge of Fred Burhop, formerly of San Clemente. A substantial amount was realized, which will be used for the Christmas eve affair.

DINNER GUESTS

PLACENTIA, Dec. 20.—Mr. and Mrs. Bern Greenfield and daughter, Miss Beverly Greenfield of Garden Grove, cousins of Mr. MacNames, and Mrs. G. H. Lawrence of Portland, Ore., and Mrs. Robert Blue of Yonkers, N. Y., guests at the Greenfield home, were recent dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ira MacNames at their home on South Bradford avenue.

TEARS OR TOYS?

By HELEN WELSHIMER

MAY there be dolls and drums for each tiny stocking That children hang so gaily Christmas Eve, Days have been long—now may they find some gladness That magic night, and may no child-heart grieve

BECAUSE he does not find the shining treasures That would have made his wistful eyes grow bright, Dreams die so hard in disappointed children, Don't let them break their hearts this Christmas night

AS Wise Men came with myth and gold and incense, So may we give the come that will supply Deep needs this year—may no child weep, dear Father, Because the Saint he loved has passed him by!

Between 40 and 50 Orange county men interested in formation in this county of the Third Regiment of California Lancers, military cavalry organization, will meet Thursday night in the council chambers of the Santa Ana city hall. The meeting is called for 7:30 p. m.

The Lancer regiment being formed in Orange county will drill for the present, probably at Hillcrest Riding Academy where arrangements have been made for horses, an arena and headquarters office. Mounted drill will start immediately after the organization meeting Thursday night.

The organization will receive cavalry drill one night each week under direction of a cavalry instructor and offers an opportunity to horse-lovers to learn horsemanship as a member of one of the most colorful organizations in the state, those connected with the outfit say.

The Third Regiment will consist of three squadrons of two troops each and take in Orange county in its entirety. Officers will be chosen from former service men in the organization. Troopers, including non-commissioned officers must be between the ages of 18 and 45 years and of good standing as citizens of their various communities.

Under the present plans it is hoped to form a troop representing Santa Ana and another from Orange, one each from Anaheim and Fullerton with additional troops from the beach and other communities.

Applications for membership are being received by Lt. Paul Vismann at the Register; George Boyd, Santa Ana police department, and E. J. Beadie, Automobile Club of Southern California.

WINTER CAMP TO BE OPENED TO ALL SCOUTS

Because many Boy Scouts in Santa Ana and Orange county who are not first class Scouts objected to the fact that they were excluded from attending the winter camp at Camp Rokill, in the San Bernardino mountains this year, the barriers have been lowered. It was announced today by Scout Executive Harrison E. White.

Previously announced plans for the annual winter camp which opens on December 26, permitted no Scouts to attend the camp who were not first class Scouts. The new ruling will permit Boy Scouts in the county to attend, providing he meets the camping requirements, which are that he must be in good physical condition and must have the proper clothing and shoes.

The number of Scouts who will be allowed to attend is limited to 75, however, Executive White said. The camp will remain open for a five-day period this winter, during which time Scouts who attend will participate in winter sports.

A group of Sea Scouts from Santa Ana were at Newport Harbor today, cleaning up and repairing the 35-foot captain's gig which was recently donated to the county council by Navy officials, preparatory to taking it to Catalina on Thursday. Clarence Tedford is skipper of the troop.

CITY BAND TO BE CONTINUED UNDER CIANFONI

A contract between the city of Santa Ana and the Santa Ana Municipal band, managed by Harry Hanson, in which it is agreed that D. C. Cianfoni will again direct the band in 1933, at a greatly reduced salary, however, has been drawn up and is agreeable to both parties, it is learned.

The city, which last year staged 12 concerts, approximately one each month, at a cost to the city of $9500 will operate this year on a proposed 10 concert per year plan at a cost of $3300, this amount of money being all the budget calls for.

Director Cianfoni, whose salary alone last year was more than the total fund allotted to the band this year, will lead the band for $100 per month, it was understood, he working by the month, the council feeling that if he should be able to get a better position somewhere else during the year that it would not feel like holding him to the $100 per month contract.

Salary Reduced

The name of Cianfoni is not in the contract, it merely calling for a director at a salary of no more than $100 per month. Should a change be made, even this amount would not be paid, members of the council were told yesterday afternoon by Manager Hanson, who met with the board. Cianfoni also was present and verbally agreed to the terms of the contract.

The contract also calls for a minimum of 25 members for each of the concerts to be given, the same as in the past, and sets the wage scale of $4 per musician per concert, if they are local musicians. No price is set for outside musicians, the contract calling for their pay being the price called for in the Union wage scale for such talent.

The contract is expected to be signed immediately and approved by the board at its next regular meeting which will be on January 3.

Miss Edra Cheney and Arthur Gillespie Wed in Yuma

Coming as a complete surprise to the many friends of Miss Edra Cheney, charming blonde daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Cheney, 819 South Broadway, and Arthur Gillespie, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Gillespie, 101 Delaware avenue, Huntington Beach, was the announcement of their marriage, an event of November 28.

The ceremony of marked simplicity, took place in the late afternoon of that date, in Yuma, Ariz., with the young people repeating their vows before Judge Freeman. The bride's blonde loveliness was emphasized by the costume she wore, a crepe de chine gown, trimmed with ecru lace and touches of peach velvet. Dress accessories were in ecru, and as ornament, she wore Mr. Gillespie's gift of a strand of pearls.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Gillespie remained in Yuma until the following day, returning to this city through the Coachella Valley and stopping in Brawley for a brief visit with a former school friend of the bride. After the holidays, they will make their home in Huntington Beach where Mr. Gillespie is connected with the Standard Oil company.

Both young people are quite well known throughout the southern part of the county, having spent the greater part of their lives here. The bride is a graduate of Tustin Union high school, completing her course with the class of 1930 and later attending Woodbury's Business college, Los Angeles, and Santa Ana junior college. She is a member of the local sorority, Tau Delta Phi, and also is a member of the Los Angeles Athletic club relay team.

Miss Smallwood Enjoys Brief Reunion; Will Return This Week

Arrived in Santa Ana for an afternoon Sunday, after a ten months' absence in Europe, Miss Ethel Smallwood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Smallwood, 811 Minter street, was able to make but brief mention of her interesting sojourn before returning to Los Angeles to re-establish her residence there. Miss Smallwood will remain in Los Angeles for several days, returning later in the week to spend the Christmas holidays with her parents here. The Santa Ana girl, formerly associated with costume designing departments in Hollywood motion picture studios, did considerable sketching in Africa and in the four European countries visited, and brought home a wealth of valuable material.

While her impressions of Spain and Morocco, in particular, and of France, England and Italy, in general, were strongest, a more recent event, as dramatic as any encountered during her 10 months' travels, was recounted during her brief reunion with Santa Ana friends yesterday. Returning from France to New York on the S. S. DeGrasse, Miss Smallwood declares she was awakened at 2:30 o'clock one morning to discover, with her fellow passengers, that their ship had overtaken a Canadian schooner is distress. A red flare, operated by burning the crew's clothing in oil, lit up the schooner's position and made a spectacular picture, but a heavy sea prevented a rescue of the four men aboard before morning.

Miss Smallwood was especially enthralled by Spain, while her taste of Africa was equally to her liking. She hopes to continue her work in the Hollywood studios in an executive capacity.

Business Women Herald Christmas With Gay Dinner Function

In the midst of an abundance of Christmas parties arranged by the Business and Professional Women's clubs last night proved a triumph when members met in the Doris Kathryn Tea Shoppe.

The dining room presented a striking festive scene when doors were opened to reveal a lighted evergreen and tables brilliant with tapers alternating with baskets of holly and poinsettias.

Address Delights
Mrs. Adelaide Cochran, president, introduced Miss Nancy Marshall of this city and New York, speaker of the evening. With an informality which captivated members, Miss Marshall re-pictured a recent trip to South America, selecting humorous and personal episodes with which to illustrate her talk. Incidents ranging from the shipboard initiation by "Neptune" at the equator to the indolent life of South American villages visited and a Christmas Eve spent in Havana, Cuba, were described in amusing detail.

Between courses the diners were treated to Christmas carols sung by Girl Reserves directed by Miss Clara Spelman. Carols included the Misses Caroline Billingsley, Nellie Fickles, Helen Griggs, Virginia Motley, Jean Mulbar, Mary Paxton, Jean Phillips, Beulah Purkey, Georgia Snyder, Harriett Stearns, Vivian White, Pauline Winslow, Georgia Stickle, Mary Jane Belcher and Ruth Archer.

Christmas gifts in jolly packages, which members this year sought to distribute among elderly people, were piled high at the door and added to the decorative effect. Members enjoyed examining their wrappings while waiting for small tables to be placed for the bridge contest which completed the evening. Eight tables were filled with players, among whom Mrs. John Backus and Mrs. George Chapman, stood first and second high at play.

Members divided their congratulations between Miss Elizabeth Perkins, chairman; Mrs. Myrtle Catherine, Miss Martha Whitson and Miss Louise Kaiser, of the party committee.

Party Features Follow Holiday Dinner Party Of Music Group

So delightful was the spirit of Yuletide rejoicing that prevailed at the recent meeting of Musical Arts club members, that its glow will undoubtedly remain with them throughout holiday week and until their next meeting on the first Friday in the new year.

Assembling in the Doris Kathryn tea shoppe before repairing to the home of their president, Olinna May Enlow Matthews, 2519 North Main street, for a Christmas party. Emphasizing the beauty of the story of Christmas as read by Mrs. Sam Kraemer of Anaheim, was the picture Mrs. Kraemer made in her white satin gown, standing near a table where the scene of the Nativity had been beautifully wrought by the hostess.

Appropriate songs including traditional Christmas carols, were sung by a quartet whose members, Cecile Fross Willis, Holy Lash Visel, Leonora Tompkins and Edith Cornell, belong to the Musical Arts Octet which has met with such success, with Ruth Armstrong as director and accompanist.

Formal program features yielded place to a series of impromptu skits in which everybody joined with enthusiasm and the hilarity continued with the denuding of a Christmas tree and consequent enjoyment of the gifts before the club members bid their hostess a reluctant goodnight.

Country Club Shares in Yuletide Entertaining

Santa Ana Country club joined the many local organizations presenting Christmas entertainments Friday when it opened its portals to women members of the club at an afternoon bridge hospitality. The function represented the December party in a succession of monthly events of similar type arranged by the management for the diversion of the membership.

Mrs. J. LaMont McFadden and Mrs. M. N. Thompson received guests on behalf of the club, as hostesses for the day. Theirs also was the privilege of awarding the afternoon's prizes to leading scorers at contract bridge. Mrs. N. E. Lentz and Mrs. Don Andrews.

Various social events are calendared at the country club for the ensuing weeks and the club is expected to be a center of entertaining during the immediate holiday period just beginning.

SANTA SUGGESTS

A BEDSIDE LAMP
The college girl or the business girl will be more than pleased with a charming little lamp for her bedside reading.

This one has a dual purpose. Its metal base is really an ash tray and so it lights and is a receptacle.

Announcements
Santa Ana chapter, O. E. S., will have officers' practice tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock in Masonic temple, with the deputy grand master.

Junior Ebell members were advised today that, owing to the rush of pre-Christmas week at Orange county health camp, the party planned by the club for the children Friday must be postponed until after Christmas. Gifts requested by the children will be presented Christmas day, however, by Mrs. Amelia Meagher, camp executive, and Ebell juniors are urged to bring their presents to Mrs. R. C. Harris, 2036 North Main street, by Thursday.

Sycamore Rebekahs will meet Sunday at 8 o'clock in the I. O. O. hall for a program arranged by Mr. and Mrs. E. L. House, but will hold no installation exercises until January 14, it was announced today.

Country Club Affords Setting for College Christmas Dance

Said to be the largest college crowd the Santa Ana Country club has ever welcomed, more than 200 junior college students and alumni attended the annual semi-formal Christmas dance Saturday evening. And in response to the Brotherhood of Bachelors' appeal for food to be given needy families all available space in the lobby was filled with packages so generously donated by the students.

Green, silver and red were the prevailing colors. A large tree splashed with silver tinsel, was bathed in shimmering green light, programs were of green suede with metal ships and lined with gold; a red spotlight was thrown on a canopy above the dancers from which white balloons drifted down. The only illumination during the dances was by spotlight and the music was furnished by Bill Campbell's nine piece orchestra, from Fullerton. During the entire evening punch was served by Rhodes Finley from tables sparkling in green and crystal.

During an interlude Sheldon Hayden as Santa Claus appeared with a bag full of painted horns while the orchestra played "Jingle Bells."

Miss Helen Bower and Miss Angela Todd Miller were in the receiving line while Mrs. W. L. Hicks and Robert Du Pree were at the door. The checking room was managed by Jimmy Hall and Martin Bowman. Miss Betty Palminter was responsible for the clever programs while Miss Betty Whitney, Miss Mary Helen Bell, Bill Campbell and Dean Benton had charge of the decorations. Miss Helen Bower, social commissioner, was largely responsible for the party's success. It was interesting to note that five past social commissioners of the college who had been in charge of former Christmas dances, were present, the Misses Marjorie Arundell, Ada Marie Hendrickson, Clara Kate Owens, Elizabeth Palmer and Marian Parsons.

Alumni attending were the Misses Miriam Samuelson, Velma Bishop, Florence Stanley, Gladys Lloyd, Ruth Bradley, Evelyn Green, Agnes McKinstry, Ruth Gardner, Marie Moog, Edith Bailey, Mary Griset, Mary Louise Niedergall, Marguerite Lentz, Marjorie Arundell, Ada Marie Hendrickson, Margery Adams, Marjorie Walton, Clara Kate Owens, Mrs. Martin Elliott, Mr. and Mrs. Franklin VanMeter, Messrs. ## Garden Grove Party Proves Enjoyable To Daughters

Members of Sarah A. Rounds tent No. 16, Daughters of Union Veterans, had a merry Christmas party last week when the occasion for a merry Christmas party was held the past week when the Misses Bertha and Emma Bell were hostesses in their home in Garden Grove.

Mountain holly, Santa Claus figures and other decorative details contributed to the effective setting which had been arranged by the hostesses. Several guessing games were played, and some time was spent in sewing. Christmas carols were sung by Messrs. Gershaime Beall, Cora Graham and Maude Perkins, with Miss Carrie Seaton at the piano.

During the day, plans were made for a covered dish dinner and gift exchange to be held Wednesday evening at 6:30 o'clock in K. P. hall by Sons and Daughters of Union Veterans.

Refreshments of sandwiches, gingerbread, nuts and coffee were served by the Misses Bell and their assisting hostesses, Mesdames Maude Perkins, Elizabeth Smiley, Emma Converse, Esther Belau and Miss Elizabeth Miller.

I haven't much patience with fads but there is one that most women would do well to tolerate and practice (Ann included). That is Fletcherism; Fletcher, the originator, had the right idea when he advised chewing one's food a certain number of times before swallowing. He thought that the evils of indigestion could be largely overcome if time were taken to eat properly. He tried to paint his picture in vivid colors and lay down rules for people to live by—the human animal is that way, y'know—so, presently, the new being worn off, we said, Oh, just another fad, and let it go at that. But let's see what actually happens in Fletcher's plan:

Each digestible organ secretes its own type of digestive fluid and the food undergoes certain changes through the action of these fluids as it passes through the body. In the mouth the saliva begins the business of breaking down starches—that is one of the reasons why food should be thoroughly masticated. Thorough mastication makes the food ready for the stomach juice (pepsin)—yet how often do we swallow our food almost whole! Is it any wonder that we suffer from "sour stomach"?

Here is another valuable angle of Fletcherism: It is a well known axiom that "the eyes are bigger than the stomach." Given time to properly masticate each mouthful of food, the eyes are satisfied and the taste buds in the tongue satisfied with less than one-half of the amount consumed, or better, ordinarily. This lessened diet keeps one fit, slim, and mentally content with life.

Have you noticed that FAT people are seldom very happy over their excess weight?

Creole Tomatoes (6 servings)
6 medium sized tomatoes
1 tsp. butter
1 tsp. flour
1/4 tsp. salt
Paprika and white pepper
1/2 cup thin cream
2 teaspoons grated green pepper
2 teaspoons minced pimiento
1 cup flaked crab meat
Sherry wine flavoring (optional)
Buttered bread crumbs

If you are looking for something "different" to serve your two tables of bridge, why not this tomato dish? I think it might be nice to cut large rings of bread, brush them with beaten egg, and fry quickly in butter. The bread ring will hold the baked tomato to perfection, and it dresses up the plate.

Cut a slice off the stem-end of each tomato, scoop out much of the pulp, salt and pepper the inside, invert and let stand an hour. In the interim make a cream sauce out of the butter, flour and cream. Cook it in a double boiler, seasoning it with the green pepper and pimiento.

Sherry wine flavoring is not in a great many kitchens, but Worcestershire sauce is, so use a scant teaspoonful as a substitute.

When the sauce is ready add the flaked crab. Fill the tomatoes with the mixture, sprinkle tops with buttered crumbs and bake in a medium oven until the tomatoes are soft. Lift carefully into the hot bread rings, garnish with watercress or parsley, and serve at once.

With this I think I'd serve a grapefruit salad—peeled sections on hearts of lettuce, with French dressing. Small tea rolls, or tiny hot cheese biscuits, coffee, and no dessert.

The calories for the six servings total just 750, with half of this total found in the energy units supplied by cream and butter. The tomato and grapefruit help the digestion of these concentrated foods and keep caloric costs at the proper level.

Wednesday: Swiss Potatoes, an attractive main dish, combining baked potato and egg. You'll be interested in this dish because it is inexpensive, good tasting, and easy to prepare.

Christmas Vespers Will Be Held Sunday at 4:30 o'clock

That magic hour "Between the dark and the daylight when the night is beginning to lower," has been chosen by Miss Ruth Armstrong for the presentation on Christmas day of what music lovers have learned to anticipate as a regular feature of the greatest holiday in the year, the Christmas vespers, announced for 4:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon in First Presbyterian church.

For this year's program, Miss Armstrong has assembled a vesting choir of 20 mixed voices by the Santa Ana String trio in a program of choruses, solos, duets and trios.

Traditional Christmas music will be sung, and Miss Armstrong has spent many weeks in preparation for the event, which will be open to everyone.

Included in the program numbers will be the choruses, "Break Forth, O Bounteous Heavenly Light" by Bach; "O Holy Night" by Adam in which solo parts will be sung by Sally Lee Scales, with violin and cello obbligato by Georgia Bell Walton and Edward H. Burns; Burleigh's Negro spiritual, "Behold That Star," "No Candle was There and No Hal-luh-luh Chorus from Handel's "Messiah."

"The Bach-Gounod "Ave Maria" will be played by Miss Walton, violin; Edward Burns, cello; Dudley Page Harper, piano, and Ruth Armstrong, organ. One of the traditional Christmas carols will be sung by Sally Lee Scales and Cecile Fross Willis and the impressive service will reach its conclusion with a vocal trio, Edith Clark, Edna Bichen and Laura Joiner, in "Silent Night."

To the spiritual beauty of the music will be added the charm and mysticism of the Christmas atmosphere induced by candlelight which will be the sole illumination of the church, and the greens wreathing altar and choir loft. These with the white vestments of the musicians, promise an aesthetic quality to please the eye even as the music will delight the soul.

Miss Goldie Peale has returned home from Los Angeles, where she has been a student at the Chouinard Art school since the beginning of the school year, and is spending the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. Peale. She expects to return to her studies shortly after Christmas.

Cadet Johnston Haddon, son of Mrs. Sarah Haddon, 1014 French street, who is visiting his mother during the Christmas holidays, expects to sail December 26 for the California National school, based south of San Francisco, from which point he will begin a world cruise December 29. The voyage will occupy about six months, being of the same duration as that made last year by Cadet Haddon around South America. With the latter on the U. S. S. California State will be Cadet Carl Bower, son of Mrs. Bower, 612 West Camille street, also connected with the California National school.

William Jeffrey spent the past week end in Palm Springs where he was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Warren B. Pinney of El Mirador. Mr. and Mrs. Alvin F. Novotny and children, 1005 West Sixth street, left immediately after the close of school for the Christmas vacation, to spend the holidays with relatives in their former home in Texas. They made the trip by automobile.

Complimenting their mother Junior College Las Meninas entertained Sunday at a delightfully informal tea in the home of Miss Louise Newcom, 1517 North Main street.

Guests were greeted by Miss Newcom and the Misses Ruth Collins, Dorothy Tedford, Aline Buck, Ruth Crowl, Mary Helen Bell, Betty Whitney, Kay Holmes and Helen Bower, wearing formal afternoon dresses in all colors of the rainbow. Lighted tapers in candelabra were used extensively throughout the rooms while the coffee and tea tables carried four green tapers in silver holders and clever centerpieces of mirrors reflecting Santa Claus, his reindeer and sleigh, all in silver and green. A tall silver castle was used as a background on each table. Mrs. J. H. Bower and Mrs. George D. Newcom took turns presiding at the coffee table while Miss Genevieve Humiston and Miss Dorothy Decker served at the tea table.

Readings were given by Miss Marian Lehy and Miss June Arnold. Christmas carols were sung by a trio consisting of Miss Verna Helm, Miss Mabel Peoples and Miss Bower who, singing in an adjoining room, created a lovely effect as the Yuletide melodies drifted out to the audience.

Annual Children's Party Staged By Woman's Club

SCHOOL PUPILS ENTERTAIN AT YULE PROGRAM

ORANGE, Dec. 20.—Mrs. Earl Crawford, president of the Orange Woman's club presided at the annual Christmas party given for children of club members yesterday at the clubhouse, opening the program by reading the ever amusing story from "The Birds' Christmas Carol."

In the lobby, lights on a Christmas tree shone brightly and both clubroom and lobby had been darkened for the occasion. A larger tree centered the clubroom and baskets of poinsettias on the stage were festooned with tiny colored lights.

Carols were sung by a group of grammar school children uniformly in white with deep capes of red. Miss Madeline Walsh was the accompanist. Carols included "Three Kings" and "Holy Night." The story of the Christ child and the life of Christ was told in pictured form through slides while explanations were made by Virginia Flippen.

A play, "How the Great Guest Came," was enacted by high school students under the direction of F. L. Carrier. The stage setting for the play was very effective and the cast of characters was headed by Robert Arrowsmith as "Conrad, the Cobbler," in whose home the Great Guest was expected.

Others in the cast were "Carl," played by Ralph McFadden; "Gustave," played by Walter Gunther; a wayfarer, Raymond Wagner; a poor woman, Elsie Friedemann; a mother, Fern Dell; the nightwatchman, Charles Pister.

At the close of the program a tableau copied from Hoffman's "Christ" was shown. Virginia Flippen was the herald.

Mr. Carrier gave a talk to the children on the meaning of Christmas. The afternoon's entertainment was closed with the singing of Christmas carols, with Mrs. C. C. Bonebrake at the piano. Candy and nuts in red and green cellophane wrappings were presented to the children.

During the afternoon the Woman's club chorus held a food sale and on one table were placed a pair of hie Christmas gifts which are to be given to the old people at the county hospital tomorrow afternoon.

The next regular meeting of the club will take place on January 2 and the program will be announced later. Hostesses yesterday were Mrs. C. E. Short and Mrs. Frank N. Richmond.

He's Shaver By Name and Occupation

ORANGE, Dec. 20.—The occupation of L. Shaver, of Spokane, coincides with his name. He has made his way across the country from Spokane and back to the coast by shaving bits of wood into all sorts of forms.

Ever since he was a little chap Shaver has been making smooth pieces of wood into shavings. As a child he was able to fashion objects with a pen-knife given him by his grandfather.

Shaver has been seen on the corners of this city for the past few days making various objects, one of which has been of unusual interest. This is a pair of wooden pliers, made from a piece of pine wood, which open and shut perfectly and in which are cunningly incorporated 12 tools including two smaller pairs of pliers. All of the pliers work without means of hinges or pivots other than those made in the carving operations. Seven hours were required to make the pliers.

Shaver has traveled 100,000 miles and has asked help of no one as he has been able to pay his way on the proceeds of sales from the articles he makes.

SPEAKER TELLS MEN'S CLUB OF CANADA'S LAWS

ORANGE, Dec. 20.—A detailed account of Canadian legislation and elections was given by Sidney P. Tweed, member of the provincial parliament of Ontario, Canada, who was the speaker at the Orange Men's club last night. The speaker was introduced by the Rev. Alvin Shirley, rector of the Trinity Episcopal church, who gave a brief and humorous introductory talk.

Tweed explained the two principal parties in Canada and said that the Conservatives, now in power, might be compared to the Republicans here and the Liberals, to the Democrats. A third party is made up of the Farmers or Progressive party, he explained. Tweed said that driving across the country to California at election time, he had been amazed to see the number of candidates on tickets. In Canada there are seldom but two or at the most three candidates on a ticket, he declared.

"Before election," said the speaker, "a candidate declares himself for certain measures and votes are cast for him on these promises. In the United States while nearly all offices are elective, in Canada nearly all are appointive, and appointments are made by the party in power. Among the provincial appointive offices are sheriff, coronator, magistrate, registrar, crown attorney and judges. These offices are usually for life. At the age of 70 a judge is retired at full pay. In cities the mayor, aldermen, and members of the school board are elected. A candidate must put up $200 when he files his papers 10 days before election and if he does not receive a certain proportion of votes the money goes to the government. A number of cities elect public utility commissioners. There are no primaries. Those in power resign 10 days after an election if they have been defeated."

At the close of his talk, Tweed was asked about the tariff imposed on California oranges in 1930. This he declared was a tariff for revenue only. The only oranges which are duty free, he said, come from Spain and are made into marmalade. The tariff is paid and then refunded after the fruit is in the preserved form, he said.

"The only oranges I have ever seen in Ontario are California oranges," the speaker said. "The sale of oranges has lessened in Canada as it has everywhere owing to the decreased purchasing power of the public."

Great interest was shown in the discussion of the government sales of liquor, about which Tweed was asked many questions. He declared that government liquor sales had not eliminated the bootleggers.

"In 1916, Ontario became a prohibition province as a war measure," the speaker said, "not by a vote of the people, and the policy worked very well for a number of years. The manufacture of liquor was not prohibited but bars and liquor stores were closed. At this time a great deal of liquor was imported from the province of Quebec. In 1920 the importation was prohibited and as this came at a time of depression, about one-half of the unemployed became bootleggers."

"In 1928 the Conservative party succeeded the Progressive or dry party in power and government liquor stores were established. The stores are only located where they are wanted and all of the cities and many of the small towns have them. If a man wants liquor, he must buy a yearly license at the store for $2 and must sign up for all of the liquor he uses. All liquor must be consumed in a man's legal residence and this is construed to mean where he is staying for the night. It may be a tourist camp or a hotel bedroom. Liquor cannot be transported after the seal is broken. This causes a large consumption at one time."

"In Ontario there are three million persons and liquor sales last year reached $32,000,000 or about one million a month. An effort is being made to legalize the sale of beer and wine by the glass in restaurants and hotels with meals."

CHOIRS OF THREE ORANGE CHURCHES IN PLAZA PROGRAM

ORANGE, Dec. 20.—Christmas carols loved since the celebration of the holiday began filled the still night as church choirs of this city sang in the plaza square last evening, formally opening the Yuletide season here. The circle of Christmas trees with their many colored lights and the towering star pine blazing with jewel-like globes from its lower branches to its tip, made a beautiful background for the event.

Choirs taking part in the carols were those of the St. John's Lutheran church under the direction of E. E. Wunderlich; the Immanuel Lutheran church choir directed by E. T. Pingel, and the First Presbyterian church choir, directed by Percy Green.

The joint program is a departure from that of previous years. Heretofore a program has been given by choirs of the city on successive nights. A large group was in attendance.

NEW LEADER SELECTED FOR MEN'S GROUP

ORANGE, Dec. 20.—Alfred Higgins was elected president of the Orange Men's club by a unanimous vote at a meeting of the organization held at the Trinity Episcopal parish house last night. Mr. Higgins is a veteran teacher and retired a year ago from his work as head of the commercial department of the Orange Union High school, where he had taught for more than a quarter of a century. He has been an active member of the men's club almost from its inception.

The newly elected president was chosen to succeed George Sherwood, who was elected last spring and who resigned this fall without having been seated. The report of the nominating committee was given by C. L. Thomas, chairman.

M. M. Fishback was the presiding officer last night and Mr. Higgins will be in charge of the January meeting. Dinner was served by the women of the Trinity guild.

Before the speaker of the evening, Sidney P. Tweed, member of the provincial parliament of Ontario, Canada, was introduced, Mr. Fishback read the last chapter of "America, as Americans See It." Surviving Mr. Bradshaw are one grandson, Roy Bradshaw, of Santa Ana; one granddaughter, Mrs. Catherine Crawford of Honolulu; three great-grandchildren of Santa Ana and three of Honolulu; one brother, Charles Bradshaw, of Hilo, Hawaii, and his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Louise Bradshaw, who has superintended the home of the pioneer resident.

Mr. Bradshaw came to California in 1835 and had crossed the plains twice previous to that time by the covered wagon route. He was an architect and drew the plans for the first high school here and plans for the proposed home of Madame Modjeska in Silverado, which was never built, besides many other Orange county buildings.

In speaking of his long and active life, Dr. McAulay called attention to the fact that since the birth of Mr. Bradshaw one-half of the history of the United States had been made. In closing his sermon, the pastor read "The Builder," by Oliver Wendell Holmes, a poem, he said, which was particularly appropriate to the life of the pioneer architect.

FUN FOR THE WHOLE FAMILY

When Santa said, "Hey, all you boys, please try out all my wind-up toys," the Tynmies were so tickled that they loudly cried, "You bet!" Then Santa Claus continued, "You will find that there's a lot to do. We must make sure that they all work. I haven't tried them yet." He took the Tynmies to a place that brought a smile to each one's face. It was a great big room stacked high with things that ran around.

"Oh, gee," cried Duncy, "Look at this. This is a treat. I wouldn't miss a little red fire engine is the first thing I have found."

The others then heard Duncy wind it up and Santa said, "You'll find that it will tear across the floor, if it is working right."

"Just set it down and let it go," Wee Duncy did, and then yelled, "Whoa!" He grabbed the engine so it wouldn't run right out of sight. A little monkey on a string was really quite a funny thing. Brave Scoury took it in his hand and said, "Now, watch it climb."

He pulled the string real hard and then the monkey went up and back again. "Well, that works fine," said Santa Claus, "It climbs up every time."

It took a long time for the boys to test out all the wind-up toys, but finally they finished. Santa then brought forth a treat. "Here's a candy you can pack for me. The boxes are nearby," said he. "When this is done you can have all the candy you can eat."

Huntington Beach Council To Sub-Lease Golf Course

ACTION SLATED AT SESSION OF BOARD FRIDAY

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Dec. 20.—The city council is expected to sub-lease the Huntington Beach Community Golf course at an adjourned meeting to be held Friday morning, if the Standard Oil company and Huntington Beach company will approve the proposed plan. The land in the golf course is owned by the Huntington Beach company and the Standard Oil company has an oil lease on the premises, and the consent of the two companies must be obtained to any lease the city might make.

The matter came before the council in executive session yesterday morning and in an adjourned meeting yesterday afternoon. Four applications for leasing the golf course were submitted. The applications were made by John Africa, pro at the golf course since it was opened; Alair brothers, prominent local golfers; Raymond Stricklin, local golfer; J. S. Hall, of Enid, Okla., whose golf course and building in Enid were recently wrecked by a cyclone.

The city council desires to lease the golf grounds, as the operation for the project costs the city money each month, and the sliding is economizing on city expenditures on account of reduced revenue from mineral or oil taxes. In response to a petition signed by property owners asking an abatement of taxes on a garage drying plant on the east side, the council instructed City Attorney Ray Overacker to draw an ordinance covering this and any similar cases that may arise and present the ordinance at the next regular meeting of the council. The council voted the city firemen $100 for the Christmas charity fund. A Christmas tree has been set up at the intersection of Walnut avenue and Main street and around this tree will be held the community Christmas program. The firemen are providing Christmas cheer for the needy of the city.

An ordinance reducing the charge made to oil companies and others granted permission to disturb the city street pavings, was passed on first reading. The cost of repairs to pavings was reduced from a flat rate of 70 cents a square foot to a sliding scale charge, varying from three cents a foot for gravel surfacing to 50 cents a foot for the better grade of street pavement.

DEFENDING HIGHER EDUCATION

The editors of two metropolitan dailies, hearing rumors that the question of the value of a college education was "live" at this time, addressed a questionnaire to several educators. There is no doubt about the character of their response. Dr. Harry Woodburn Chase, president of the University of Illinois, gives many reasons for not curtailing education at this time, the most practical of which is the following:

"It has seemed to me that any curtailment of the opportunities of higher education at this time would be disastrous. For example, if half of the million young men and women now enrolled in colleges, universities, professional and technical schools should be turned loose, the already tragic problem of the general unemployment would become that much more serious.

One of the selling points of one or two of the eastern colleges has been destroyed by the depression. News stories appeared, every now and then, incorporating figures showing how much graduates of that institution were earning. The college education was computed in dollars and cents. It looked like a good investment, all right, judging by those figures. To-day huge salaries are a thing of the past. If there are any who are still getting them they are keeping quiet about the fact. Therefore those who were computing the value of a college education on a basis of the dollar and cents return are wondering about the value of the college education. At least we suppose they are the ones who are wondering. Some people seem to be and certainly people who believed that college education was a good investment to be realized upon in a happy, expansive, worthwhile life are not the ones, at this time, to be wondering about the value of the investment.

Those who learned to enjoy reading as part of their education, who made the acquaintance of the philosophers, who acquired broad horizons are capitalizing on their investment in college education today and are not in doubt concerning its value.

CONGRESS CONSIDERS BILL CONCERNING MEXICAN YOUTHS

The United States Congress has just passed a bill, carrying an appropriation of $15,000 for each of the families of the two Mexican youths who were shot and killed by deputy sheriffs at Ardmore, Oklahoma, a year ago last June.

From what we heard concerning the details of the affair, we were impressed that the killing was little short of murder. If these two youths had been from an important and outstanding nation of the world, one that has power, the settlement would have been made long ago, or there would have been much trouble, for we would have been at least pilloried before the bar of public opinion.

The main thing is to take such a position upon questions, as to insure our moral defense, even though the other side of the controversy is weak. This act by our national Congress, we hope, will evidence to Mexico, and these Mexican families, at least, that America wants to make amends for this manifest injustice and wrong.

We cannot bring the youths back, and money is the only method by which we could evidence our serious mistake. We hope the Senate will pass the act promptly.

A LEADING OPINION ON GOVERNOR ROLPH'S PARDONS

Ralph Swing of San Bernardino makes a timely comment on Governor Rolph's pardons. In speaking of these men, who have been pardoned, and who have violated the law, he says, in part:

Most of these persons, while convicted under the Wright Act, were in fact, guilty of the heinous offense of manufacturing and distributing to our unsuspecting youth, a dirty, filthy and poisonous substitute for intoxicating liquor, which has affected, both mentally and physically, this upcoming generation to an undetermined degree and has developed in them a disrespect for constituted authority and for the laws of our land.

For such an offense no penalty is too severe nor can any pardon eradicate the stigma nor convert them into law-abiding citizens.

We are passing this on as another side light upon the Governor's program of leniency. Governor Rolph is a sympathetic man. We wish the object of his sympathy would be the inoffensive class of society, rather than those who revealed overjoying. But it is possible that if this padding of his bent of mind, he could not have stirred the Pro-Governor of the state.

test and started a Senate fight over con Hoover's appointments over is endeavoring to unload responsibility in respect to debt Mr. Roosevelt. Mr. Roosevelt is not to consider this responsibility or accept it until after March 4th.

There are certain reasons why it might be very wise for the two to agree upon a program, so that there may be a continuity in such program, as our nation confronts the debtor nations of the world. Yet we cannot see how President-elect Roosevelt could have done much else than that which Mr. Hoover has done.

Congress has the final disposition of this case. "The President may propose, but Congress will dispose." In the late political campaign, there was a creation of sentiment along certain lines which we have no doubt some of our leaders regret now. But the sentiment is there nevertheless. And Hearst and Johnson will help see that that sentiment finds expression.

THE COLD OF BOSTON

The news comes from Boston that Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd has caught cold, and is having a severe case of influenza. Well, he would have to have it in Boston, when he could endure 70 degrees below zero at the South Pole.

We recall a man who was injured by a kick of a mule. As he was dying in a hospital, he wept and the nurse called his attention to the fact that he had come through many battles in the Army of the Potomac, including Gettysburg and the Wilderness, and yet he did not seem very brave now. He said: "Yes, that is just it, I might have died in glory on the battlefield, but to come home and be kicked to death by a mule is more than I can endure."

Byrd is not in serious condition, however, and the doctor says he will be out by Christmas.

NEW PLAY FOR MAUDE ADAMS

Maude Adams, so it is announced, will return to the Broadway stage this coming fall. This will be the first time in 16 years that she has been on Broadway. Many people saw her in the role of Portia in the "Merchant of Venice" last year, and those who did, and who had previously seen her as Peter Pan, and in "What Every Woman Knows," wish for the most part that they had not seen her in this role at this time.

A new play is being written for her. We are glad of that. We would like, in our memory of this actress, to think that she was always adapted to, and could wonderfully impersonate the characters which she portrayed on the stage. This, in our judgment, was not true in the case of Portia.

RACKETEERING STRIKES SHOALS

It looks as though the gangs in Chicago were being broken up. The right hand man of Al Capone has just been shot, and it is expected that he will die.

It seems that the general business conditions have hurt the racketeers. The various lines of business are not able to pay their usual funds to the extorters. While the poor business conditions are driving some people into forms of crime, it seems to have hurt organized crime, as it hurts even the legitimate lines of trade. Wouldn't it be strange if these hard times would drive the racketeers into honest employment?

FAVORITE WORDS AGAIN

The controversy over the ten most beautiful words is continuing. People are saying a lot of nonsense. Dr. L. L. Click, professor of English at the University of Texas yesterday said his two favorite words were "wealthy widow." He probably will be astounded to note that his words, facetiously uttered, undoubtedly, landed him on the front page of a metropolitan morning paper. It wouldn't have happened two months ago. In those days we were wondering what news would replace the campaign news. Now we know.

Three Queens A-Shopping Go

When one Queen saunters forth to shop in London Town, it may cause much flutter among the shopkeepers and their assistants and the news receive ceremonial precedence at the top of the Court Calendar.

On one occasion at least it is recorded, with undoubted historical accuracy in "Alice in Wonderland," that when Her Majesty ventured out some of her liege subjects threw themselves flat on their faces, which Alice thought was quite silly. When three Queens go a-shopping, however, on Bond and Regent Streets, transoceanic cables flash the news to the uttermost parts of the globe and every woman and most men stop to read about it.

If it be true that one touch of nature makes the whole world kin, it is also true that a tour of shopping touches a responsive chord in feminine hearts. How is it possible to resist the impulse to speculate what these royal shoppers chose? Did Queen Mary, for instance, dip deeply into her allowance for a pair of fleecy-lined slippers for Britain's King, and did Queen Maud of Norway choose for her boudoir a silver-framed copy of Tennyson's stanza which begins, "Come into the garden Maud." For what favored Prince of Denmark did Queen Alexandrine unloose the queenly purses?

John Macfield's slightly acrid line about "mules of shopping women" notwithstanding, the democratic gesture of these royal women in freely mingling with their sisters of all ranks who were also busy buying presents for their consorts may quicken a sense of brotherhood and sisterhood where statesmen's notes might falter.

Increased Use of Absentee Ballots

Approximately 22,000 absent voters' ballots were cast in California for the general election, it is announced by the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen. It was this organization that initiated the movement for this progressive step in balloting. Railroad men are interested because they are frequently absent from their homes on election day. But many other thousands of people are also absent on such occasions or are ill. They can now vote.

The brotherhood has compiled figures showing the growth in popularity of the absentee voters ballot. In the 1924 general election, which was the first in which absent voters ballots were used in California, there were less than 5,000 such ballots cast.

Since the original enactment of the law in 1922 there have been several amendments, designed to liberalize the method of absentee voting.

During the decade the system has been in vogue there has been no indication of abuse of absentee voters ballots. The same secrecy that surrounds regular balloting has been protected. There have been no allegations of fraud.

The use of absent voters ballots is certain to increase as its system becomes better known. Each election is marked by the failure of many thousands of people to cast ballots, either because of absence from the precinct or because of illness.

SONG OF THE LAME DUCK

Once, when I introduced a bill
Or drew a resolution,
Or spoke, with rare forensic skill,
Upon the constitution,
The people's voice was lifted high
In echoing my praises—
But now they seem to think that I
Am underneath the daisies.

Whatever are my private views
They get no public mention;
The correspondents know such news
Does not provoke attention.
My theories do not divert
The people of the nation;
I shan't be here to help or hurt
The next administration.

The men I daily used to see
And toll with in committee
Now, I discover, look at me
With something much like pity.
And many a glance of mock distress
I've privately detected.
When some dear colleague said, "Oh yes;
YOU were not reelected."

But hope still lingers in the breast
Of every politician;
My mood may sometimes be depressed
But never my ambition.
I still can make the echoes ring
From floor to galling gallery
And draw, at least till early Spring,
A pretty tidy salary.

PARAGRAPHS

By Robert Quillen

If that isn't a war in Manchukuo, there's a lot of good atrocities going to waste.

What puzzles us about the starving who break into grocery stores is their appetite for cigarettes.

Perhaps the quickest way to collect on your accident insurance is to enter a hick town and kick some man's dog.

You can tell a born failure. He is forever up in arms because somebody has mistreated his children.

There's always something. Congress may provide the nog for eggnog this time, but who will provide the eggs?

THE COST OF KEEPING A CAR DEPENDS

ON WHETHER YOU KEEP IT IN THE GARAGE, IN THE ROAD OR IN DEBT.

Yet a lot of youngsters who "go to the dogs" are just imitating their very respectable parents.

If only these martyrs who take it on the chin wouldn't let it bounce back to your ears.

Each new Atlantic liner seems bigger in every detail, including the deficit.

AMERICANISM: Denying youngsters the benefit of restraint and discipline; blaming Prohibition or modernism when the inevitable happens.

Another thing you pay for in everlasting installments is patriotism.

There's a bright side. A lot of the jobless are fellows who lived on suckers.

But if they are so down and out as to feel that bitter, how can they afford dynamite?

THERE'S ONE WAY TO HIDE MONEY AT HOME

WHERE NOBODY CAN FIND IT. JUST PARK IT ON A TABLE AND LET YOUR WIFE CLEAN HOUSE.

A woman is a person who buys a gift she can't afford to repay a friend who gave her a costly grimecrack she didn't want.

Reading the French plea for postponement, one wonders what made Caesar think gall divided into four parts.

"Human speech makes machine run," says a headline. At last they've found the kind of machine Russia needs.

You see, by purchasing things made by Japanese workers you can save enough to feed several jobless workers here at home.

Thoughts On Modern Life

SELF-INTEREST AND WAR DEBTS

The current discussion of war debts is strangely and discouragingly reminiscent of the mood that held men in its grip while the war was on.

We are all, I suspect, a little ashamed of the way we surrendered to wishful thinking and wild hysteria in that tragic time.

We gave up thought as well as sugar for the duration of the war.

The rational abdicated and the emotional grasped the scepter of power.

We bade realism goodbye while the guns boomed.

Something of that stubborn avoidance of facts marks the mood of many now regarding the nation with their views on war debts.

It is part of the process of war that we buck ourselves up by sanctifying our actions with an air of spiritual self-forgetfulness.

But it is absurd to carry that self-delusion over into a post-war period when the enterprise of reconstruction calls for utter realism of thinking.

Self-delusion may inspire a man to shoot straight in war-time, but it cannot help a man to think straight on post-war policies.

One might think, from much of current discussion, that all our loans to Europe were self-forgetful ventures, and that any suggestion of a reconsideration of war debts and reconstruction loans in terms of world interest is an insult to the utterly philanthropic spirit displayed in making these loans. Is it not in point to recall that even the three and a quarter billion dollars we loaned Europe after the armistice were loaned not in self-forgetfulness but in self-interest?

Certainly the record shows that a considerable part of the American loans to the newly formed nations was to make it possible for them to take over surplus supplies of American war materials and to finance the purchase in America of relief supplies.

And the main purpose of the post-armistice loans to our allies was to prevent the cancellation of European orders that had earlier been placed with American manufacturers.

This money, let us remember, was in the main, used to buy American goods at greatly inflated prices in the post-war period and was one of the major factors of the period of prosperity in which so many Americans, for a time, reaped untold profits.

We have already made money on the money we loaned Europe during and following the war.

I do not say that we should cancel the war debts, apart from a statesman-like world program respecting all intergovernmental debts, but I insist that we should stop emotionalizing the issue.

SO OLD? SO OLD?

Each generation is certain that it has found a new wisdom. Youth discovers what old age has accepted and forgotten and jumps astride the world to make his new found glory known.

It is hard to be patient with youth when this happens. It must happen and we must be patient. More. We have to allow Youth its discovery. It won't help us any to say, "We know that long ago." That message falls on deaf ears. "Not as we know it," the children cry, and rush full speed ahead.

Each girl who makes up her face, sets her curls and dons her gay raiment thinks herself unique. She will think so until experience teaches her that she is one of a great sisterhood that stretches down her years since Eve sang in a garden.

The boy who feels a warm surge of love, a protective urge, a new fine thrill of rapture, sweeping over him when he sees a girl as a girl for the first time in his life, thinks himself an explorer in an unknown delectable land. He will feel that way until experience touches his eyes with her cool fingers and he realizes he is the son of that Adam who talked and walked at evening in the garden.

We who have travelled the old road, know its ancient landmarks. We know the serpent's guile, we know the steep places along the way, the brambles that scratch and tear as we pass. We know too the ecstasy and the triumphs, and we know the sweet peace at the end of the road. But can we tell one word of all this to these children?

We cannot. This is a sealed secret that comes down the ages as it was in the beginning. To each a unique experience.

We can help a little by showing our understanding. We can stand by and hope for the best. We can do little more than that, once the children have entered the garden. All our doing must be done well in advance of the adventure.

We know that this experience is coming and like seasoned veterans we prepare for it by teaching the children the meaning of the symbols they meet along the way.

Mothers and fathers are anxious about the girls and boys their children marry. They would like to select them, one for the other. That too is an ancient notion. It works only when the children agree to the choice. It fails when they do not. That hasn't changed since the earliest days when he turned from her because he loved her not."

We cannot live again in the lives of our children. We save in their affection. The love they bear their parents is different from that they bear their chosen partners. These loves do not conflict unless we make them do so. Mothers and fathers have no cause for jealousy when their children select their mates. The two relationships are widely apart and one need not affect the other in the least, if the parents are wise.

Sometimes they are not wise and that again is old, so old. They cherish grudges, they cling to the belief that if it were not for that boy, or that girl, the child of their hearts would have been a brighter light, a higher pillar in society. That simply is not so. What he was trained to be from the start, that he is in large measure when he selects his partner and it is fair to suppose that like attracted like. Experience points that way.
